FATE OF TRUCE TALKS UP TO REDS

Hawaii Welcomes 35 Repatriated POWs

Home-Bound Vets Greeted By Hula Girls

Throng Cheers, Band Blares As Hospital Plane Touches Down

HONOLULU, April 28 (AP)—Thirty-five sick and wounded Americans from Korean Communist prison stockades arrived by hospital plane at Hickam Air Force base today on the long, happy journey home.

Waving and smiling, most of them stepped out of the big plane into the arms of flower - laden nurses and Hawaiian hula girls as soon as the transport landed.

Eight veterans were lowered on stretchers from the belly of the C97 Stratocruiser. Two Air Force wives draped leis around their necks and hugged them as they touched American soil.

Some Pale And Gaunt

Some of the former prisoners, pale and gaunt from months and years in Communist captivity, leaned on the shoulders of husky medics. The returned men grinned sheepishly as the girls swarmed around them.

The first man off the plane was Cpl. Donald K. Legay of Leominster, Mass. The first litter case was Pfc. Eddie P. Vidal of San Antonio, Tex.

Some men blushed scarlet as they caught sight of the welcoming hula girls and nurses. They paused briefly, shuffling their feet at the bottom of the ramp to pose for some 50 photographers.

Within 10 minutes after the plane touched down the first ambulance was racing some of the men to Tripler Army Hospital for medical checkup.

Crowd Of 300 Cheers

As each man stepped down, an Air Force officer welcomed him over a public address system and a welcoming throng of about 300 military dependents cheered.

Grass - skirted Hawaiian hula girls swirled in a dance of welcome and an Air Force band blared as the hospital plane pulled up to the ramp, lined with this territory's top civilian and military officials.

The stopover in Honolulu is expected to last for 24 hours. Then the men will be flown to Travis Air Force Base, Calif.

"MOTHER OF YEAR"—Meet Mrs. Ethlyn Wisegarver Bott, 58, of Belleville, Ill., whose choice as "Mother of the Year" is unique in one respect—she's a stepmother. Mrs. Bott raised four motherless children after she married their widower father 20 years ago. She will be honored in New York May 8 by the American Mothers Committee. BALTIMORE, April 28 (AP)—Philip B. Perlman, Baltimore attorney who was solicitor general of the United States during most of the Truman administration, was honored here tonight as a winner of battles against segregation and discrimination.

The Baltimore Branch of the American Jewish Congress, at a testimonial dinner, designated him "1952 Champion of Human Rights."

Lightning Bolt Explodes Oil Tank; Four Die

Flaming Petroleum Sets Houses Afire At Kilgore, Texas

KILGORE, Tex., April 28 (AP) — Four persons were burned to death and one critically injured today when lightning exploded a crude oil storage tank and the blazing oil set afire several Negro homes.

The lightning hit late this afternoon during a violent thunderstorm.

Identity of the dead and the one girl critically burned was not immediately established.

The tank was one of two located on a block on Fourth Street about six blocks from the downtown section. Near it were several Negro houses.

Houses Ignite Quickly

Hank Dupate, newscaster for radio station KFRO, said that W. G. Carroll, an eyewitness to the explosion and flash fire, said "within thirty seconds" after the tank exploded, the houses were on fire.

All the houses were located at one end of the block, near the tanks.

A great, black cloud of smoke boiled upward from the burning oil. Heavy rain continued to fall as the flames licked the wooden frame homes.

No Oil Wells Afire

The area is dotted with oil wells, but no wells were reported on fire.

Kilgore is a little East Texas City of 9,693 persons, situated in the heart of the vast Texas oil field. Oil well derricks are the city's skyline — located in backyards, on front lawns and in the back of downtown business houses.

The block that was set ablaze reportedly contained about 15 houses. There was no estimate of the number of persons trapped in the houses.

All of the dead and injured were said to have been inside homes when the blast and fire occurred.

Commerce Chief Sees No Slump If Peace Comes

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP) — Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks told 2,500 American business leaders today the long-range outlook for prosperity is bright and there is no reason to fear a slump when and if peace comes.

"There will be no sudden nose-dive in defense production," Weeks said, addressing the 41st annual convention of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce.

Weeks' statement marked the second time in the last eight days that a cabinet-rank administration spokesman has sought to dissipate any fears that a Korean truce might lead to drastic cutbacks in multi-billion dollar defense spending and bring about a recession.

Echoes Humphrey

Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey told more than 1,000 of the nation's leading editors and publishers at an Associated Press luncheon in New York on April 20 that the United States is "not headed for depression" in the event of an armistice in Korea or worldwide peace.

In much the same vein, Weeks cautioned against undue pessimism as he declared:

"The present boom eventually may taper off into some sort of 'normalcy,' but that normal level itself will be relatively high and the long-range future prospects much higher."

Adjustments, No Slump

As for repercussions if peace is achieved in the East-West cold war, Weeks told the business executives:

"Stock market fluctuations, of course. Adjustments during transitions following later reductions in defense spending, sure. Some downturns in business activity in specific lines after over-stimulation ends, yes.

"But no old-fashioned depression."

Interior Funds Cut

WASHINGTON, April 28 (INS)—The House passed today and sent to the Senate a bill slashing the Interior Department's budget for the coming fiscal year nearly one-third.

Editor Agrees To Name Reds

NEW YORK, April 28 (AP)—New York Post Editor James Wechsler today released a telegram he sent to Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) agreeing to name people he knew as young Communists years ago.

Wechsler has often publicly admitted his own youthful membership in the Young Communist League. He said he was agreeing to give McCarthy the list in order to get before the public the record of a closed hearing Friday, during which Wechsler testified before McCarthy's Senate Investigating Committee.

Last night McCarthy made public a telegram from Wechsler who requested that a transcript of the hearing be made public so he could ask the American Society of Newspaper Editors to study it.

Wechsler said he considered that "serious issues affecting freedom of the press" were involved in the hearing.

Production Index Up

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—The Federal Reserve Board said today its index of industrial production rose two points in March to a level 10 per cent higher than a year ago and 20 per cent above production in mid-1950.

Stepmom With No Children Of Own "Mother Of Year"

NEW YORK, April 28 (INS)—A 58-year-old woman with no children of her own today was named 'American Mother of the Year'—the first time in history that a stepmother has receievd the coveted award.

Mrs. Ethlyn Wisegraver Bott of Belleville, Ill., was honored for "embodying those traits highly regarded in mothers" during the 20 years she has raised four stepchildren.

She won the '53 annual award rom the American Mothers Committee over several hundred candidates from the U. S., District of Columbia, Alaska and Puerto Rico.

Mrs. Bott, a former school teacher, married Dr. Anthony E. Bott two decades ago. His first wife had died five years before and his children—Anthony, Edward, Betty and Pauline, aged four to 14—had been brought up by the father and the maternal grandparents.

She immediately took over the children's affections, and helped raise them to the successful positions they hold today.

Mrs. Bott graduated from Stephens College, Columbia, Mo., and during one time in her teaching career was an administrator for her alma mater. During that period, she worked with and for many girls who were having a financial struggle to stay in college—interesting alumnae groups in "adopting" girls students and supplying them with clothing, spending money and food boxes.

T-H Exemption For Local Public Utilities Urged

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) today proposed that all "local" public utilities and all labor-management relations in the building and construction industry be exempted from the Taft-Hartley Law.

Smith, chairman of the Senate Labor Committee, offered the proposal as a formal amendment to the act, now being studied for possible revision by both the Senate and House Labor Committees.

He was known to have discussed his amendment with Senate Republican leader Taft (Ohio) and some other members of his committee.

For that reason the amendment—the first offered by Smith—was believed to have more than usual significance.

The amendment would also exempt from the present law, and thus leave under control of state labor laws, these other employer categories:

All employers of less than 10 persons; and employers whose interstate business does not exceed "certain specified minima in terms of dollars and cents."

This latter group is in effect already exempted by National Labor Relations Board regulations.

At least three states have passed laws to deal with public utility disputes. But the Supreme Court has held that the Taft-Hartley Law preempts this field, thus preventing these states—Wisconsin, Michigan and New Jersey—from enforcing their own more restrictive laws.

Should the amendment become law, the AFL's building and construction trade unions could sign closed-shop contracts in any state which did not specifically prohibit that form of union security, as the Taft-Hartley Act now does.

At the same time, they would be subject to state regulations on such questions as secondary boycotts, picketing and strike activities.

Five Buried Alive In Freak Cave In

SWINTON, England, April 28 (AP)—A freak cave-in swallowed up three houses built above an abandoned railroad tunnel today and buried five persons alive.

The ground gave way under the houses with a rumbling resembling an earthquake just before dawn. All the occupants were asleep at the time.

Three victims, including an aged couple in their 80's, were killed and the two others died shortly after being dug from the ruins.

Red Jet Reward Offer Denounced By British Peer

LONDON, April 28 (AP)—A Socialist peer in the House of Lords tonight denounced Gen. Mark Clark's offer of $100,000 to any Communist airman who surrenders with a Soviet MIG fighter intact. He called it a "dastardly proposal."

Lord Chorley broke into a debate on dealing with criminals at home to assail the unique offer put forward by the U. N. commander in Korea.

"There is a great feeling throughout this country that this is a terrible mistake," said the peer. "It is an attempt to bribe Chinese airmen to commit what is no less than treason."

Reds Closing In On Laos Capital

HANOI, Indochina, April 28 (AP)—Communist-led Vietminh invaders have captured the mountain defense post of Pakseng, 42 miles northeast of Luangprabang, the royal Laotian capital, a French high command spokesman announced today.

The spokesman said he did not know whether the French-Laotian garrison had been withdrawn or whether the Vietminh overwhelmed it in battle.

At Luangprabang, a French major estimated yesterday that advance Vietminh elements were within 12 miles of King Sisavang Vong's residence city on the north and within 25 miles on the east.

The exact position of the enemy on the north and northeast is difficult to determine. Vietminh troopers are moving single file through dense jungle toward the ring of mountains surrounding Luangprabang, which lies in a palm-lined valley along the Mekong River.

This sector was reported quiet today, indicating the Vietminh may be awaiting fresh supplies before pushing closer.

Capital Goes On DST At 2 A. M. Thursday

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—The District of Columbia and surrounding suburban areas go on daylight saving time at 2 a.m. Thursday—four days after most of the nation's other big cities set their clocks ahead.

The District commissioners announced the time switch minutes after President Eisenhower signed legislation permitting them to do so.

From now on the commissioners can make their own decisions on the matter. That was provided in the bill Eisenhower signed and which Congress passed yesterday.

D. C. Rent Curbs Voted

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—The Senate approved and sent to the House today a bill extending rent controls in the District of Columbia to July 31.

Ex-Red Admits Stealing Secret Plans For Motor

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—A Polish-born factory worker told investigating senators today he stole secret plans for a military diesel engine during World War II and delivered them to a Red spy ring in Cleveland.

He testified that he also filched the formula for a preparation to prevent and cure livestock diseases after being told "it would be of great use to our comrades in Russia."

Hearing Televised

The story was unfolded nervously by Thad Mason, alias Thad Mosiejewsky, at a televised hearing of the Senate's internal security subcommittee.

Mason said he became disillusioned with communism during a visit to Poland in 1950-52, and now repented his acts. He lives at Wallington, N. J., where he said he is writing a book.

Speaking in a voice which broke occasionally, Mason testified he smuggled blueprints for the diesel engine from the inspection division of a General Motors plant in Cleveland, where he had a filing job. This was sometime between 1944 and 1945, he said.

Cafe Basement Headquarters

Mason described how he slipped the plans between pages of newspapers and delivered them one by one to fellow spies working as a cook and "second assistant dishwasher" in the plant's cafeteria.

The ring had a secret headquarters in the cafeteria basement, the witness said, maintaining a complete photographic setup there to copy the blueprints.

"You stole every blueprint?" asked Sen. Welker (R-Idaho), acting chairman of the subcommittee.

"I consider I did," Mason said.

Round-The-Clock Senate Debate Threat Erased

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP) — Senate agreement for a final vote May 5 wiped out today the threat of round-the-clock debate on state vs federal ownership of submerged coastal lands.

The break came after almost four weeks of talking—including a record-making speech of 22 hours and 26 minutes by Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore)—mostly by opponents of a bill by Sen. Holland (D-Fla) to give the states ownership of the disrupted lands within their historic boundaries.

The Senate promptly agreed to the May 5 vote proposal made by Sen. Anderson (D-NM), a leader in the opposition forces. That date had been suggested earlier by Republican leader Taft of Ohio, who thumped his desk and insisted that the opponents were conducting a filibuster to prevent a vote.

Cots Had Been Ordered

"The vote can be May 5, May 15 or May 25 as far as I'm concerned," he said, but he demanded either that some time limit be fixed or that the Senate go into continuous session.

Arrangements for such a marathon already had been made. Both Taft and Democratic leader Johnson of Texas had arranged to have some members on the floor throughout the night, and cots were ordered from a basemant storage room to permit catnaps by senators subject to call at any time.

Long hours of debate still are in prospect, but normal six-hour sessions are more likely than the 12 - hour stints ordered several nights last week and the round-the - clock session when Morse spoke last Friday-Saturday.

Debate To Be Limited

The agreement limits debate on each of a number of amendments to four hours, to be divided between those favoring and opposing it, The final vote is to come at 2 p.m. May 5 whether or not all amendments have been debated.

Each side will get only one hour for the final round of debate on the bill itself.

The overwhelming Senate strength for the bill was shown yesterday by a 56-33 test vote on an amendment sponsored by Anderson. The vote killed his proposal that federal control provisions be substituted for the state ownership sections of the pending bill.

Ex-POWs Swayed By Reds Will Get Mental Treatment

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—The Defense Department said tonight "a small group of soldiers who have shown symptoms of having succumbed to Communist indoctrination" while captives of the Reds in the Korean War, are being flown to Valley Forge Army Hospital, Pa., for mental as well as medical treatment.

The announcement did not specify the number, saying only that "they represent only a part of the returned prisoners to be treated at Valley Forge."

Nor did it specify how long the men would be held for such treatment. A spokesman said this would depend on the need for treatment. The department said families of the men "will be encouraged to visit them."

The department pointed out "that the soldiers had suffered many privations and great danger while under Communist control and consequently, might have been more susceptible to communist influence than they would have been under any other circumstances."

The statement added:

"Those members of this group who may be eligible for discharge will receive the normal medical processing given soldiers prior to their separation from the Army.

"The Army feels it is obligated to these men and to their families, and that they are entitled to medical and psychical treatment for their rehabilitation.

"All these soldiers who were subjected to intensive Communist indoctrination require special consideration as well as medical treatment in their preparation for return to society.

"For this reason, interviews by newsmen will not be permitted unless medical authorities determine that no medical harm to the men will result and the individuals themselves consent."

Allies Demand Revised Offer On POW Issue

Negotiators Meet For Fourth Straight Day At Panmunjom

MUNSAN, Wednesday, April 29 (AP)—United Nations delegates reported making progress in today's Korean truce talks, with the Communists indicating they might favor an Asiatic nation to supervise war prisoners refusing to return home.

MUNSAN, Korea, Wednesday, April 29 (AP)—The United Nations Command put it squarely up to the Communists today to alter the unacceptable Red prisoner exchange plan or face a breakdown in the newly revived truce talks.

The Allies have rejected the Red plan to keep balky Communist captives imprisoned at least nine months and possibly indefinitely after an armistice is actually signed. About 50,000 Chinese and North Koreans have said they were unwilling to return home.

Allies Request "Noted"

Lack of progress Tuesday in a 39 - minute meeting promoted a point blank demand from Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison, senior Allied delegate, that the Reds offer the name of a neutral country to handle prisoners refusing to return home.

The chief Communist delegate, Korean Gen. Nam Il said he would "note" Harrison's request.

(A Peiping radio broadcast, heard by The Associated Press in San Francisco, quoted Nam Il as saying "our side would like to hear any of your positive views which may expedite the progress of the negotiations."

(A commentary from Korea broadcast by the Red radio said "it remained to be seen whether Harrison would offer constructive views instead of merely objections." The broadcast declared "so far the American delegates have done nothing to seek a solution of the prisoner of war question.")

Harrison Warns Nam Il

Harrison bluntly warned Nam Il that the U. N. Command "does not intend to become involved in protracted and useless arguments.

Then, in an obvious reference to the Allied walkout which broke off the talks Oct. 8, Harrison said the Reds "should be well aware of what we mean."

Last October the five-man Allied delegation walked out and Harrison said it would not return until the Reds offered something constructive.

U. S. Sabre Pilot Breaks Red Trap

SEOUL, Wednesday, April 28 (AP)—Six Communist MIGs attempted to corral an American Sabre jet Tuesday and force it north toward Manchuria during a series of violent dogfights over North Korea.

The pilot outmaneuvered his would-be captors amid the raging air battles and escaped, the Fifth Air Force said. There was no immediate claim of Red planes destroyed in the action.

Capt. Robert J. Anspach of South Charleston, W. Va., said six MIGs jumped him during a dogfight.

"They seemed to be trying to herd me north," the flier reported. "I tried every trick in the book to break through, but they stuck with me."

The Red airmen forced the American to drop from 40,000 feet to very low over Sinuiju, on the Manchurian frontier. But unexpectedly Red antiaircraft fire opened up, discouraged the Communist fliers, and gave Anspach a chance to break away.

Indiantown Gap To Be Inactivated By Army

WASHINGTON, April 28 (INS)—The Army announced today that troop training will cease Sept. 1 at he Indiantown Gap Military Reservation, Pa.

Assignment of trainees to the center has already stopped. The reservation will continue to be used as Pennsylvania military district headquarters, and as a summer training center for reserves.

Indiantown Gap, which was closed after World War II, was reopened as a training center in June, 1951. The Army said "considerable savings" are expected from its inactivation.

She won the '53 annual award rom the American Mothers Committee over several hundred candidates from the U. S., District of Columbia, Alaska and Puerto Rico.

Mrs. Bott, a former school teacher, married Dr. Anthony E. Bott two decades ago. His first wife had died five years before and his children—Anthony, Edward, Betty and Pauline, aged four to 14—had been brought up by the father and the maternal grandparents.

She immediately took over the children's affections, and helped raise them to the successful positions they hold today.

Mrs. Bott graduated from Stephens College, Columbia, Mo., and during one time in her teaching career was an administrator for her alma mater. During that period, she worked with and for many girls who were having a financial struggle to stay in college—interesting alumnae groups in "adopting" girls students and supplying them with clothing, spending money and food boxes.

T-H Exemption For Local Public Utilities Urged

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) today proposed that all "local" public utilities and all labor-management relations in the building and construction industry be exempted from the Taft-Hartley Law.

Smith, chairman of the Senate Labor Committee, offered the proposal as a formal amendment to the act, now being studied for possible revision by both the Senate and House Labor Committees.

He was known to have discussed his amendment with Senate Republican leader Taft (Ohio) and some other members of his committee.

For that reason the amendment—the first offered by Smith—was believed to have more than usual significance.

The amendment would also exempt from the present law, and thus leave under control of state labor laws, these other employer categories:

All employers of less than 10 persons; and employers whose interstate business does not exceed "certain specified minima in terms of dollars and cents."

This latter group is in effect already exempted by National Labor Relations Board regulations.

At least three states have passed laws to deal with public utility disputes. But the Supreme Court has held that the Taft-Hartley Law preempts this field, thus preventing these states—Wisconsin, Michigan and New Jersey—from enforcing their own more restrictive laws.

Should the amendment become law, the AFL's building and construction trade unions could sign closed-shop contracts in any state which did not specifically prohibit that form of union security, as the Taft-Hartley Act now does.

At the same time, they would be subject to state regulations on such questions as secondary boycotts, picketing and strike activities.

Five Buried Alive In Freak Cave In

SWINTON, England, April 28 (AP)—A freak cave-in swallowed up three houses built above an abandoned railroad tunnel today and buried five persons alive.

The ground gave way under the houses with a rumbling resembling an earthquake just before dawn. All the occupants were asleep at the time.

Three victims, including an aged couple in their 80's, were killed and the two others died shortly after being dug from the ruins.

Red Jet Reward Offer Denounced By British Peer

LONDON, April 28 (AP)—A Socialist peer in the House of Lords tonight denounced Gen. Mark Clark's offer of $100,000 to any Communist airman who surrenders with a Soviet MIG fighter intact. He called it a "dastardly proposal."

Lord Chorley broke into a debate on dealing with criminals at home to assail the unique offer put forward by the U. N. commander in Korea.

"There is a great feeling throughout this country that this is a terrible mistake," said the peer. "It is an attempt to bribe Chinese airmen to commit what is no less than treason."

Reds Closing In On Laos Capital

HANOI, Indochina, April 28 (AP)—Communist-led Vietminh invaders have captured the mountain defense post of Pakseng, 42 miles northeast of Luangprabang, the royal Laotian capital, a French high command spokesman announced today.

The spokesman said he did not know whether the French-Laotian garrison had been withdrawn or whether the Vietminh overwhelmed it in battle.

At Luangprabang, a French major estimated yesterday that advance Vietminh elements were within 12 miles of King Sisavang Vong's residence city on the north and within 25 miles on the east.

The exact position of the enemy on the north and northeast is difficult to determine. Vietminh troopers are moving single file through dense jungle toward the ring of mountains surrounding Luangprabang, which lies in a palm-lined valley along the Mekong River.

This sector was reported quiet today, indicating the Vietminh may be awaiting fresh supplies before pushing closer.

Capital Goes On DST At 2 A. M. Thursday

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—The District of Columbia and surrounding suburban areas go on daylight saving time at 2 a.m. Thursday—four days after most of the nation's other big cities set their clocks ahead.

The District commissioners announced the time switch minutes after President Eisenhower signed legislation permitting them to do so.

From now on the commissioners can make their own decisions on the matter. That was provided in the bill Eisenhower signed and which Congress passed yesterday.

D. C. Rent Curbs Voted

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—The Senate approved and sent to the House today a bill extending rent controls in the District of Columbia to July 31.

Ex-Red Admits Stealing Secret Plans For Motor

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—A Polish-born factory worker told investigating senators today he stole secret plans for a military diesel engine during World War II and delivered them to a Red spy ring in Cleveland.

He testified that he also filched the formula for a preparation to prevent and cure livestock diseases after being told "it would be of great use to our comrades in Russia."

Hearing Televised

The story was unfolded nervously by Thad Mason, alias Thad Mosiejewsky, at a televised hearing of the Senate's internal security subcommittee.

Mason said he became disillusioned with communism during a visit to Poland in 1950-52, and now repented his acts. He lives at Wallington, N. J., where he said he is writing a book.

Speaking in a voice which broke occasionally, Mason testified he smuggled blueprints for the diesel engine from the inspection division of a General Motors plant in Cleveland, where he had a filing job. This was sometime between 1944 and 1945, he said.

Cafe Basement Headquarters

Mason described how he slipped the plans between pages of newspapers and delivered them one by one to fellow spies working as a cook and "second assistant dishwasher" in the plant's cafeteria.

The ring had a secret headquarters in the cafeteria basement, the witness said, maintaining a complete photographic setup there to copy the blueprints.

"You stole every blueprint?" asked Sen. Welker (R-Idaho), acting chairman of the subcommittee.

"I consider I did," Mason said.

Round-The-Clock Senate Debate Threat Erased

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP) — Senate agreement for a final vote May 5 wiped out today the threat of round-the-clock debate on state vs federal ownership of submerged coastal lands.

The break came after almost four weeks of talking—including a record-making speech of 22 hours and 26 minutes by Sen. Morse (Ind-Ore)—mostly by opponents of a bill by Sen. Holland (D-Fla) to give the states ownership of the disrupted lands within their historic boundaries.

The Senate promptly agreed to the May 5 vote proposal made by Sen. Anderson (D-NM), a leader in the opposition forces. That date had been suggested earlier by Republican leader Taft of Ohio, who thumped his desk and insisted that the opponents were conducting a filibuster to prevent a vote.

Cots Had Been Ordered

"The vote can be May 5, May 15 or May 25 as far as I'm concerned," he said, but he demanded either that some time limit be fixed or that the Senate go into continuous session.

Arrangements for such a marathon already had been made. Both Taft and Democratic leader Johnson of Texas had arranged to have some members on the floor throughout the night, and cots were ordered from a basement storage room to permit catnaps by senators subject to call at any time.

Long hours of debate still are in prospect, but normal six-hour sessions are more likely than the 12 - hour stints ordered several nights last week and the round-the - clock session when Morse spoke last Friday-Saturday.

Debate To Be Limited

The agreement limits debate on each of a number of amendments to four hours, to be divided between those favoring and opposing it, The final vote is to come at 2 p.m. May 5 whether or not all amendments have been debated.

Each side will get only one hour for the final round of debate on the bill itself.

The overwhelming Senate strength for the bill was shown yesterday by a 56-33 test vote on an amendment sponsored by Anderson. The vote killed his proposal that federal control provisions be substituted for the state ownership sections of the pending bill.

Allies Demand Revised Offer On POW Issue

Negotiators Meet For Fourth Straight Day At Panmunjom

MUNSAN, Wednesday, April 29 (AP)—United Nations delegates reported making progress in today's Korean truce talks, with the Communists indicating they might favor an Asiatic nation to supervise war prisoners refusing to return home.

MUNSAN, Korea, Wednesday, April 29 (AP)—The United Nations Command put it squarely up to the Communists today to alter the unacceptable Red prisoner exchange plan or face a breakdown in the newly revived truce talks.

The Allies have rejected the Red plan to keep balky Communist captives imprisoned at least nine months and possibly indefinitely after an armistice is actually signed. About 50,000 Chinese and North Koreans have said they were unwilling to return home.

Allies Request "Noted"

Lack of progress Tuesday in a 39 - minute meeting promoted a point blank demand from Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison, senior Allied delegate, that the Reds offer the name of a neutral country to handle prisoners refusing to return home.

The chief Communist delegate, Korean Gen. Nam Il said he would "note" Harrison's request.

(A Peiping radio broadcast, heard by The Associated Press in San Francisco, quoted Nam Il as saying "our side would like to hear any of your positive views which may expedite the progress of the negotiations."

(A commentary from Korea broadcast by the Red radio said "it remained to be seen whether Harrison would offer constructive views instead of merely objections." The broadcast declared "so far the American delegates have done nothing to seek a solution of the prisoner of war question.")

Harrison Warns Nam Il

Harrison bluntly warned Nam Il that the U. N. Command "does not intend to become involved in protracted and useless arguments.

Then, in an obvious reference to the Allied walkout which broke off the talks Oct. 8, Harrison said the Reds "should be well aware of what we mean."

Last October the five-man Allied delegation walked out and Harrison said it would not return until the Reds offered something constructive.

U. S. Sabre Pilot Breaks Red Trap

SEOUL, Wednesday, April 29 (AP)—Six Communist MIGs attempted to corral an American Sabre jet Tuesday and force it north toward Manchuria during a series of violent dogfights over North Korea.

The pilot outmaneuvered his would-be captors amid the raging air battles and escaped, the Fifth Air Force said. There was no immediate claim of Red planes destroyed in the action.

Capt. Robert J. Anspach of South Charleston, W. Va., said six MIGs jumped him during a dogfight.

"They seemed to be trying to herd me north," the flier reported, "I tried every trick in the book to break through, but they stuck with me."

The Red airmen forced the American to drop from 40,000 feet to very low over Sinuiju, on the Manchurian frontier. But unexpectedly Red antiaircraft fire opened up, discouraged the Communist fliers, and gave Anspach a chance to break away.

Indiantown Gap To Be Inactivated By Army

WASHINGTON, April 29 (INS)—The Army announced today that troop training will cease Sept. 1 at he Indiantown Gap Military Reservation, Pa.

Assignment of trainees to the center has already stopped. The reservation will continue to be used as Pennsylvania military district headquarters, and as a summer training center for reserves.

Indiantown Gap, which was closed after World War II, was reopened as a training center in June, 1951. The Army said "considerable savings" are expected from its inactivation.

Ex-POWs Swayed By Reds Will Get Mental Treatment

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—The Defense Department said tonight "a small group of soldiers who have shown symptoms of having succumbed to Communist indoctrination" while captives of the Reds in the Korean War, are being flown to Valley Forge Army Hospital, Pa., for mental as well as medical treatment.

The announcement did not specify the number, saying only that "they represent only a part of the returned prisoners to be treated at Valley Forge."

Nor did it specify how long the men would be held for such treatment. A spokesman said this would depend on the need for treatment. The department said families of the men "will be encouraged to visit them."

The department pointed out "that the soldiers had suffered many privations and great danger while under Communist control and consequently, might have been more susceptible to communist influence than they would have been under any other circumstances."

The statement added:

"Those members of this group who may be eligible for discharge will receive the normal medical processing given soldiers prior to their separation from the Army.

"The Army feels it is obligated to these men and to their families, and that they are entitled to medical and psychical treatment for their rehabilitation.

"All these soldiers who were subjected to intensive Communist indoctrination require special consideration as well as medical treatment in their preparation for return to society.

"For this reason, interviews by newsmen will not be permitted unless medical authorities determine that no medical harm to the men will result and the individuals themselves consent."

Curious Queries In Virginia Tax Forms Throw Newsman

ALEXANDRIA, Va., April 28 (AP)—The state of Virginia demands a reply to its question, and I hereby answer it publicly:

No, Virginia, I do not have a fyke or a weir to my name.

As a resident of Virginia, I have received from the tax collector his annual questionnaire about my property. Once again I hasten to reassure him.

The tax collector asks: Do you own any toll bridges, any ferries, any turnpikes?

Like my answer to fykes and weirs, the reply again is no.

Heavens, man, I only have a little old suburban lot. I couldn't find room for a turnpike even if I stood it on end.

One question really threw me. Do you, the tax man asked, own any "articles of virtu?" Fortunately, I do own a dictionary. Articles of virtu, it turns out, are "productions of art, esp. curios or antiques." So the answer here is no, too, unless he wants to count a Girl Scout calendar.

While looking in the dictionary, a couple of other definitions:

A fyke is a long bag net for catching fish, and a weir is a dam sometimes used to make a fish pond.

I fell to wondering if some other states have the same old fashioned curiosities in their tax forms. Unfortunately, I couldn't find any up-to-date list, but the Prentice-Hall Publishing Company has copies of its "State and Local Tax Service" in its Washington office. Its bound volumes take up 10 feet of shelf space.

And they contain some interesting information. Such as:

In Massachusetts, the law says public weighers of fish are entitled to charge 20 cents for each 1,000 pounds weighed. In Michigan, the courts have ruled that tunnels are personal property.

In Montana, cooking utensils used by railroads are considered part of their rolling stock. In Nevada, it's okay to sell or ship deer hides. The law there says deer aren't fur bearing animals.

Responsibility For Bleachers' Collapse Argued

BALTIMORE, April 28 (AP) — A jury today started hearing evidence on which it will decide who was responsible for the stands collapsing at a Sonia Henie ice show here on March 6, 1952.

Between 250 and 300 persons were injured to some extent when the bleachers came tumbling down and there are more than 400 damage suits against the blonde skating star and her associates.

Sonia sat quietly at a counsel table, all in black except for several strands of pearls.

There are so many suits—108 lawyers are asking about five million dollars for plaintiffs—that everyone concerned has agreed this first test case shall determine who was at fault. Other juries will determine damages the individual plaintiffs suffered later, if that becomes necessary.

Leonard Weinberg, elected by the lawyers for the plaintiffs as one of four to present their case, started it off by saying it was Miss Henie's fault.

No, said her attorney, Benjamin C. Howard. She was president of the corporation which staged the show, he said, but she actually had control only over the skaters, their performance and costumes. She hired experts to arrange and put up the seats.

This pointed the finger at Edwin P. Coronati and his Coronati Amusements Co., which had charge of the seating. Coronati and his company are co-defendants.

Hundreds of them sipped tea with Maryland's first lady before leaving.

Mrs. Theodore R. McKeldin, wife of the governor, was hostess at a late-afternoon gathering for the tourists in Government House, the Executive Mansion opposite the Statehouse.

The Pilgrimage, which began last Friday in Prince George's County and continues until May 5 on both sides of Chesapeake Bay, is a yearly undertaking of the Federated Garden Clubs of Maryland. Proceeds are used primarily to maintain Hammond-Harwood House, an architectural pride and joy of Annapolis.

Robin Nest Slows Work On Building

ST. LOUIS, April 28 (AP)—A mother robin, waiting for her eggs to hatch, today slowed down work on one phase of a half million dollar construction project.

The robin's nest is in the middle of forms for construction of a new chapel and convalescent wing at St. Agnes Home for the Aged in suburban Kirkwood.

So Joseph E. Vollmar, construction firm president, called an executive board meeting. The vote was to hold off on part of the job near the nest until the robin hatches her eggs.

"No, I'm not a bird lover," Vollmar said. "I just respect a fellow contractor."

Oberammergau A-School Opens

OBERAMMERGAU, Germany, April 28 (AP)—They started teaching atomic warfare today in Oberammergau, where the life of Christ has been dramatized since 1643.

Daily routine went on as usual in this Bavarian Alpine town, scene of the Passion Play every decade, as key officers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization began their study under instructors from the U. S. Army, Navy and Air Force.

For the next four days, major generals and their equivalent rank in the other services will take part in the first atomic warfare course ever given the military of foreign nations.

It was the first of two courses scheduled under the direction of Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway's U. S. Command in Europe. The second will include about 30 staff officers and is to last 10 days.

The Army threw up a barrier of secrecy about its school.

High U. S. officers declined even to disclose what types of atomic weapons will be discussed, although one indicated in Paris last week that the instruction would be varied when he remarked:

"We have atomic weapons running out of our ears."

Fire While Mother At Church Kills Baby

BALTIMORE, April 28 (AP) — A baby boy died in a house fire today while his mother was at church.

Police tried to get to the third floor bedroom of the North Bond Street house but were driven back by the smoke and flames. Firemen finally got in and found the body of Dennis Moore, 18-month-old Negro boy.

Mrs. Shirley Moore, the mother, was at church when the fire started and the boy's grandmother and aunt were in the basement doing the wash, members of the family said.

FREDERICK, Md., April 28 (AP)—An old house at Adamstown, built in the early years of the 19th Century, was destroyed by fire early today.

The house, built of logs and covered with brick, was owned and occupied by Mrs. Tarthenia Dutrow.

Mrs. Dutrow told State Police she started a fire in a basement furnace this morning. Shortly afterward, smelling smoke, she returned to the basement and found it filled with flames.

CIO Steelworkers To Seek Pay Boost

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. April 28 (AP)—The million-man CIO United Steelworkers union rolled up its sleeves today and got set to bargain for a general wage increase.

USW President David J. McDonald said steel companies will be asked in the next few days to meet with union representatives for discussion of a proposed wage increase.

The 163 members of the union's Wage Policy Committee decided the 1953 pay policy at a meeting today. That policy was not announced in terms of dollars and cents. "A general wage increase" was as far as the committee would go.

Three presidents of the United States died on July 4—John Adams, Thomas Jefferson and James Monroe.

Old Adamstown, Md., House Swept By Fire

FREDERICK, Md., April 28 (AP)—An old house at Adamstown, built in the early years of the 19th Century, was destroyed by fire early today.

The house, built of logs and covered with brick, was owned and occupied by Mrs. Tarthenia Dutrow.

Mrs. Dutrow told State Police she started a fire in a basement furnace this morning. Shortly afterward, smelling smoke, she returned to the basement and found it filled with flames.

CIO Steelworkers To Seek Pay Boost

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. April 28 (AP)—The million-man CIO United Steelworkers union rolled up its sleeves today and got set to bargain for a general wage increase.

USW President David J. McDonald said steel companies will be asked in the next few days to meet with union representatives for discussion of a proposed wage increase.

The 163 members of the union's Wage Policy Committee decided the 1953 pay policy at a meeting today. That policy was not announced in terms of dollars and cents. "A general wage increase" was as far as the committee would go.

Three presidents of the United States died on July 4—John Adams, Thomas Jefferson and James Monroe.

Purchase Of An Empire

The day will go little noticed in much of the United States, but April 30 will be the sesquicentennial of the greatest single acquisition of territory by the United States. The instruments which effected the Louisiana Purchase were dated April 30, 1803.

The formal celebration of the event will take place in New Orleans on December 20, the date on which the United States officially took the new domain over from France. But it was the April 30 date that marked the culmination of a mission—when Minister to France Robert R. Livingston and special envoy James Monroe completed the deal with Napoleon that brought to the United States an area in which more than 23 million people now live, territory that has gone to make up all or part of 15 states.

The cost came to about four cents an acre. Congress had authorized Monroe to spend $10 million to buy an island at the mouth of the Mississippi, or at the very least the right to deposit goods there. Livingston and Monroe committed themselves to $15 million. For that they brought back with them the title to a vast, largely unexplored area—where now lie the oil of Oklahoma, Texas and Louisiana, the gold and silver of Colorado, the timber lands of Minnesota, the cotton of Arkansas, the corn fields of Kansas, Missouri and Iowa, the wheatlands of Nebraska and the Dakotas, the copper of Montana, much of the cattle range.

The transaction also established at least two constitutional principles; the right of the President and the Senate to obtain foreign soil by treaty, and then to incorporate it into the Union. Jefferson, the strict constructionist, himself believed that "an act beyond the Constitution" had been done. He prepared a constitutional amendment that would validate the Louisiana Purchase, dropped the idea only when convinced that no amendment was needed.

There were loud objections to the purchase which doubled the territory of the United States at that time by adding almost all the land between the Rockies and the Mississippi and from the Gulf of Mexico to Canada. But the Senate ratified the treaty on October 19, 1803, and two days later France and the United States exchanged ratifications.

The first state to be admitted from the new territory was Louisiana itself. It was a hundred years later, when New Mexico became a state in 1912, before all the new territory achieved statehood.

Some persons in 1803 worried about the vast expense of the purchase—equal to five and one-third miles of silver-wagon loads! Others feared the depopulation of the East through a vast migration to the new lands. Still others thought the new nation was swallowing more territory than it could digest.

But the mass of the people pronounced the purchase a bargain. This it has proved to be, though Bonaparte used the $15 million he gained from it to go to war with England, to his eventual destruction; though it spurred Pickering, Griswold, Tracy, Plumer, and eventually, Burr, to plot a separate empire.

Selling Rubber Plants

The administration is taking steps to get rid of some sections of government owned industry. As a starter, President Eisenhower has recommended that the government get out of the synthetic rubber business. The President's action approves a proposal made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

There are a total of 28 synthetic plants now under government ownership, but being managed by private firms on a fee basis. Total initial cost to the government was $550,000,000, but due to depreciation the value now is estimated at approximately 60 per cent of that figure.

Members of Congress, who will be called upon to place final approval on any plans for sale of the plants, generally agree that this is a good time to cut the plants loose. A deterring factor in the past has been the status of the nation's stockpile of rubber. There is now an adequate synthetic rubber supply for both defense and civilian needs.

Under tentative proposals sales of the plants will be on a negotiated basis, although fine points of the deals will be threshed out in Congress. Plants which aren't sold in an allotted period would be placed on a standby basis so that there would be no competition with those producing under private ownership.

It is estimated that two pears will be required to denationalize the government-owned synthetic rubber industry.

"Discovering" Buffalo

That valiant soldier, Viscount Montgomery of Alamein, on his visit to America has seen many things he planned to in advance, including a "baseball match." No Columbus he, but he did inadvertently make one discovery a little to his chagrin.

The guest of Canada at Ottawa, its capital, he heard somebody mention the name of a city and inquired, "Where's Buffalo?"

Not know the whereabouts of the Queen City of the Lakes? It was unthinkable, as the Buffalo Chamber of Commerce informed the general in a lengthy telegram detailing its industries and geographical advantages. Montgomery in a letter by his own hand expressed thanks for the telegram and regret for his ignorance.

But before it was dispatched he flew over Buffalo and saw it from the air. Buffalo was appeased. Maybe there's a little moral here.

From a great commander nobody expects the discretion Falstaff said was "the better part of valor." But tact is not taboo. Can one imagine an American five-star general in London asking, "Where's Glasgow?"

Speed Is The Culprit

Although 1952 was the worst accident year in the history of the automobile industry, such figures as are available for 1953 indicate that the current year will break all records, unless there is a sharp reversal of trend. Insurance companies which write automobile accident insurance are constantly readjusting rates in an effort to cover losses.

More than 2,000,000 casualties were logged in automobile accidents last year, with a death total of 37,600.

Analysis of the figures indicates that excessive speed was the cause of most fatalities. Speed killed 13,430 persons and injured nearly 600,000. Other pertinent items: Saturday is the most dangerous day of the week on the road: 40 per cent of the deaths and 36 per cent of the injuries occurred on weekends. There are morals galore here for those who want to absorb them.

The sorriest commentary on the underlying cause of traffic accidents is the fact that drivers live under the sublime impression that it can happen to somebody else—but not to them.

How To Keep Well

Gout Is Better Understood Now

Gout was said to be more common 50 to 100 years ago. Old-timers noted that it occurred in heavy eaters, more so among those who consumed large quantities of meat. Men usually were affected and the disorder was rare in children, or women who had not yet passed thru the menopause. Beyond that, little was known about the disease, its chemical nature, and its treatment.

The disorder is still with us but no longer represents the mystery it was to the medical profession of previous centuries. Radioactive isotopes, obtained from the atom smasher, have helped modern physicians to a better understanding of the condition. Eating too much meat is only part of the story. The malady often "runs in families" and is prone to occur in those who have difficulty in utilizing uric acid. In this respect, it resembles diabetes, in which sugar is not metabolized properly. In gout, the system is too efficient so far as uric acid is concerned. The use of isotopes has demonstrated that production of this substance is too good and as a result most victims have more than they need. There is an increased concentration in the blood and large deposits in the bones and cartilages of the body. This leads to periodic attacks of gouty arthritis in which the various joints become red, swollen, and painful. The big toe is favored and whenever the structure is involved most individuals think of gout immediately.

The attack makes its appearance at night as a rule and pain reaches its height within two or three hours. Many bouts are preceded by overeating, an alcoholic spree, an operation, or the treatment of another disease, such as a liver shot for anemia. When untreated, discomfort lasts seven days or longer and then disappears spontaneously. Return engagements are the rule and, as the years pass, they become more frequent and last longer. Ultimately chronic gout intervenes.

In the last decade, several new treatments have been reported, including ACTH, cortisone, Benemid, and Butazolidin. These agents help alleviate pain and some lower the amount of uric acid in the system. But the newcomers are not always used because they have no advantage over colchine, a time honored remedy. This product is easy to take and overdosage is difficult because too much produces nausea, vomiting, or diarrhea. The substance usually is continued until plain is relieved. The salicylates, like aspirin, also have an effect upon uric acid and when used in large amounts will ease distress.

The individual generally is comfortable between attacks. Recurrences are kept to a minimum by avoiding foods rich in purines such as sweetbreads, liver, brains, beef, kidneys, meat stocks, anchovies, and sardines. Cofee, tea, cocoa, and alcohol must be restricted, as well as codiments like pepper, paprika, horseradish, catsup, spices, and mustard. But the gout sufferer need not starve; he can eat cereals and breads (except those made from whole grain), macaroni, spaghetti, noodles, cheese, eggs, moderate amounts of butter and other fats, fruits of all kinds, gelatin, buttermilk, most vegetables (except lentils, asparagus, cauliflower, lima beans, mushrooms, navy beans, peas, and spinach). Sugar, sweets, and pies are allowed, as well as vegetable and cream soups.

Tomorrow: Silvery scales on the skin.

PERSISTENT INFECTION

C. H. writes: Has any permanent cure been found for an old osteomyelitis? I've had six flare-ups of the disorder, each of which calls for hospital care.

REPLY

No, but surgery combined with antibiotic treatment helps to control each flare-up. Meanwhile, as new antibiotics appear, it may be that one will become available that will combat the causative germs in your particular case. The new enzymes, such as tryptar and varidose, may be used as adjuncts.

NASAL POLYP

G. F. writes: I have a polyp in the nose that has affected my sense of taste and smell. Can it be removed successfully by operation?

REPLY

Yes, but polyps may re-form unless the causative allergy or sinus inflammation is brought under control. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on nasal polyps.

LOOK ELSEWHERE

Mrs. E. writes: Could gallstones lead to cardiospasm?

REPLY

This is most unlikely but there is an outside possibility because any disturbance of the gastrointestinal tract may affect another part of the digestive system through reflex changes.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Railroad Lobbyist At Golf Club Influences Ike Against St. Lawrence Seaway; Republican Senators Getting Hostile Mail Re Tidelands Oil

WASHINGTON—For years it has been a White House custom to publish the names of Presidential callers. This is done on the theory that the American people have a right to know who talks to or tries to influence the most important personage in the nation.

However, the White House has declined to make public the golfing partners of the President—except for an occasional senator such as Taft—on the ground that Ike's golfing partners would be hounded by lobbyists who would try to influence the President through his golfing partners.

Actually, those who golf or visit with the President in Augusta or at the Burning Tree Club in Washington can vitally influence national policy.

For instance, William Faricy, astute, charming president of the Association of American Railroads, visited with Ike at Burning Tree recently. Faricy, one of the ablest and most personable representatives of big business in the capital, is anxious to block construction of the St. Lawrence Seaway because of its competition with the railroads.

Every President of the United States, so far, has been for the St. Lawrence project. So have such top Republicans as Dewey and Taft. However, Burning Tree golfer Faricy apparently performed miracles.

For, after talking with him, Ike told Senator Wiley of Wisconsin that he was opposed to the seaway. Furthermore, he used all the arguments of the railroads against the seaway. Wiley, who used to be counsel for the Milwaukee Railroad when Faricy was counsel for the Northwestern, recognized the arguments immediately.

Wiley is a stanch advocate of the project which would connect the Great Lakes with the Atlantic Ocean. Uninfluenced by the President, he proceeded with his St. Lawrence hearings.

Later the President changed his mind. He did not do so, however, until after the news leaked of his visit with persuasive railroadman Faricy at the Burning Tree Country Club. After the leak Ike reversed himself, lined up with other Presidents of the United States for the seaway.

In other words, it looks as if the traditional policy of making public the names of Presidential callers, whether at the White House or on the golf course, was a good one. (Lists of those cruising with Truman on the Williamsburg were published. Ike is substituting the golf links for the Presidential yacht).

NOTE: Publication of White House callers and golfing partners carries out the spirit of the Lobbyist Registration Act and the Foreign Agents Registration Act, namely that there may be nothing wrong about representing certain business groups or certain foreign countries as long as it's not concealed from the public.

Hostile Tidelands Mail

Eisenhower senators aren't saying so publicly but some of them are not at all happy about the tidelands oil policy of their administration.

The mail of Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, for instance, is running 200 to 1 against him because of his support for tidelands oil. Massachusetts, of course, has nothing to gain from giving the $300,000,000 offshore oil wealth to Texas, California and Louisiana, and the voting public in a lot of these non-oil states has become pretty well educated by the Senate filibuster.

Another thing worrying some Eisenhower senators is the President's failure to support his own cabinet members regarding the extent of the tidelands oil concession.

Both Secretary of State Dulles and Attorney General Brownell were emphatic in congressional testimony that the three tidelands states must not have title to more than the historical boundaries—namely, three miles offshore except in the case of Texas and Florida which get 10½ miles. In contrast, some tidelands senators want 100 miles or more offshore and the present bill leaves this to be decided in the vague future.

However, the President, queried by the Senate regarding the deliberate vagueness of the current bill, ducked a definite stand. He did not side with his two cabinet members, worried that Russia and Mexico might press similar offshore claims.

"Giveaway Administration"

Another problem worrying Republicans is the new trademark which the Democrats are cleverly conspiring to pin on Ike's administration—namely "the giveaway administration."

"You don't practice economy by giving away national assets," argue the Democrats. "Nor does this giveaway policy balance the budget."

Democratic leaders are already preparing a list of so-called "giveaways" upon which they will ring all the changes. Here are some of them:

Synthetic Rubber Plants—These were built at a cost of millions of dollars after Japan cut off rubber from the Malays and Indonesia. Now, with the Communists staging a new drive into French Indo-China on the borders of this same rubber area, the administration is insisting on selling these rubber factories for about 15 cents on the dollar.

Synthetic Oil-From-Coal Plant — This experimental laboratory at Louisiana, Mo., for making oil out of coal, cost the government $75,000,000. However, the oil lobbies are opposed, and Secretary of the Interior McKay plans to sell it to private industry for a song.

Tidelands Oil — Revenue from this wealthy oil area would bring several millions annually into the Treasury, help balance the budget. Democrats plan to list the heavy oil-company contributions to Ike's campaign chest to show that this is a political pay-off not in the national interest.

Public Lands—Western senators are already talking about giving the public lands held by the federal government to each state.

Ducks and Salmon—The firing of Albert M. Day, head of Wildlife and Fisheries Bureau, at the behest of certain private game-preserve owners will be shown by the Democrats as a move to benefit the wealthy few who can afford game-hunting reservations.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Ammunition Scandal

It is difficult to understand why, if our industries were capable of such successful production in World War II, they fell down during the Korean War. Obviously, that could not be, because when American industry gets a contract, it produces and delivers the goods. Therefore the trouble must be in the Pentagon.

Now, let us have a little look at Pentagon history:

A small number of officers were extremely important to the successful procurement of supplies for the Army during World War II. Until about January 1941, procurement was handled in the same general way in which it has been handled during the Korean War; namely, through the chiefs of Supply Arms and Services and under the general guidance, as to requirements, and with considerable interfering supervision of G-4.

About January 1941 the supervision was taken out of the control of G-4 and an organization was set up under General Brehon Burke Somervell as the commanding general of the Service of Supply, later termed the Army Services Forces. In this setup the chiefs of Supply Arms and Services reported to General Somervell. Although the procurement problems were enormously difficult, they were surprisingly well met.

It is interesting in this connection to note that in previous major wars there had always been a change in the men who occupied the office of Quartermaster General. This was not done in World War II because of the successful operation of this organization by the then Quartermaster General Edmund B. Gregory. The handling of the Quartermaster responsibilities during World War II was one of the outstanding successes in our military history.

The Ordnance Department was headed in 1940 by General Charles M. Wesson. The driving force in the procurement of ammunition and of other Ordnance supplies was Lieutenant General Levin H. Campbell, Jr., who established an outstanding reputation. In this capacity he was responsible for seeing to it that new facilities were provided for the manufacture of arms and ammunition. He had under his direction four officers, three of them regulars, Colonel Forrest C. Shaffer, Colonel John C. Raaen, and Colonel Henry B. Sheets, and one civilian, Colonel Herbert White, who was from the automotive industry.

When General Wesson's term of office expired, General Campbell became chief of Ordnance and his usual drive and ability spread through the entire organization.

One of the other major and most difficult factors in ammunition production was the construction for the housing of manufacturing facilities. This was originally under General Edmund B. Gregory, the quartermaster general, with General Somervell in direct charge.

In both ammunition procurement and construction every effort was made to avoid delay, and delays were avoided. The officers had a definite understanding of the needs of the troops, although they were not responsible for estimating these needs.

Certainly General Campbell, General Somervell and General Leslie R. Groves, who was deputy chief of construction before he went to the Manhattan Project, had a better appreciation of the need for small arms ammunition in the summer of 1941 than seemed to be existent anywhere else. They knew their business and recognized their responsibilities. They seemed to feel keenly the obligation to see that troops in action had the ammunition they needed. There were no failures.

The same kind of energy and responsibility went into the Manhattan Project, when General Leslie R. Groves managed it. The atom bomb was made and used before the war was over. When General Groves was assigned to the Manhattan Project, Secretary Stimson told him that he was to do anything that was necessary, if by so doing it he could complete the project one day sooner.

Many other names may be mentioned in connection with this great work which won a war by production and supply. Why is it that none of these men of experience is being used even in a consultative capacity? Many of them are in private industry using their vast experience, much of it gained while in the Army. Is there no way to use them for America?

I come back to the subject of our profligate use of manpower. These officers have had a wonderful training; we retire them at their peak to make room for the next generation. Nevertheless, there ought to be a way of using them, if only in a consultative capacity.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—The "Filibuster" has come into its own. This method of "talking a bill to death" has been condemned as obstructive and as reactionary and as undemocratic, but today it has been given prestige and respectability by the "liberals" and "super-liberals" themselves.

Civil rights for minorities is one of the casualties of the misguided strategy of these "liberals." For now the latter cannot persuasively raise their voices in protest when legislation to insure civil rights may be proposed for a vote in the Senate and a filibuster results.

The argument on the "tidelands" oil bill has been going on during a 19-day filibuster in which opponents of the measure—many of them hitherto the champions of "civil rights" legislation as well as of proposed changes in Senate rules to limit debate—have made use of the filibuster as a device to delay, if not prevent, a vote on the pending "tidelands" bill.

In Democratic Platform

Many a campaign speech last year and many a protest during the 1952 Democratic National Convention advocated changes in the Senate rules so as to limit debate. Denunciation of filibusters was put into the Democratic platform. One would have thought that these protests were raised objectively and without thought that the events of these last few days would confirm the cry that a filibuster is wrong only when it is made against a bill being sponsored by your own side and that it is right when it is made to help defeat what your own party is fighting.

What is particularly surprising is that the Northern Democrats would so conspicuously demonstrate the wisdom of their Southern brethren in hitherto using the filibuster. Everybody knows that a substantial majority in the last Congress voted for the "tidelands" oil bill, and hence it is not a new issue or one which can be laid at the doorstep of President Eisenhower. Certainly he came out for the bill before being nominated last year but he did so in recognition of the stand taken by the majority of his own party.

Even so, the vote cast by Democrats for the "tidelands" legislation does not justify the charge that the Republicans are guilty of "giving away" federal lands that "belong to the people." For then the Democrats are equally guilty according to the tally in the last Congress.

Thus, 109 Democrats in the House voted on July 30, 1951, for the "tidelands" bill and 91 against it, when it passed by a total vote of 265 to 109.

Also, in the Senate on April 2, 1952, there were 24 Democrats for the bill and 24 Democrats against it, so it can be seen that a majority of the total number of Democrats in both houses favored the "tidelands" legislation.

When the final conference report was voted on in the House, 94 Democrats voted for the bill and 70 against it. The Senate agreed to it by a voice vote, which indicated that the Democrats had no particular reason to make a record vote on the measure and didn't seriously object to its passage.

Filibuster Delays Legislation

Congress has been delayed in getting started on important legislation at this session because a minority in the Senate have carried on a filibuster on this bill. The participants in the effort to defeat the bill disclaim, of course, any intention to filibuster, and one of them says that the purpose of the prolonged debate is only to "educate" the people on the issues. It certainly doesn't take 19 days to do anything of that kind, especially on an issue as well known as the "tidelands" bill.

About the only point germane to the issue being made is that the proposed legislation would take away from all the people the oil that belongs to them and give it to a few states. But in those few states are a substantial number of Americans—not foreigners. Hence, if the legislation does give to the state governments the right to lease the oil lands to their people, it is hard to convince any fair-finded person that it is all right for the state governments of Texas or Louisiana or Florida to lease mineral resources for development by its citizens within the land boundaries of the state, as they do now, but not within the three miles of submerged areas lying, for example, along the coast of Texas, as proposed in the bill.

The whole filibuster is an ill-advised step that will cost the "liberals" far more than they can possibly gain by their exhibitionism. For, in the long run, the public will remember that it was the "liberals" who conducted this filibuster and consequently there cannot be much censure visited upon the "wicked reactionaries" when they make use of the same device to delay or defeat legislation obviously desired by a majority if a vote were permitted to be taken.

On The Line

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK—(INS)—"Rise, Sir Winston," the beautiful young queen said at Windsor, putting away the sword with which she had touched his shoulders. And the old man with the face of a wise and freshly spanked baby climbed to his feet and stood for a moment with his back almost as straight as it had been 55 years before, as a young lieutenant with the South African Light Horse.

Winston Churchill had achieved knighthood in the "most noble" Order of the Garter.

Not even the British are quite certain about the dawn of knighthood and chivalry or of the origin of their most prized order, that of the Garter. The practice of bestowing promising or noble young men with special rank, prestige and in some cases the right to plunder, may have begun with early Germanic tribes. Under Charlemagne (died 814) the ritual attending the elevation to knighthood — the placing of the king's sword on the shoulders or head of the kneeling knight-to-be and the order to rise in knighthood—was well established.

Churchill's newest honor, which does not prevent his continuing to serve in Commons and is not transferable to his children, is Britain's oldest and most exclusive of orders of knighthood: The Garter, Thistle, St. Patrick, Bath, Star of India, St. Michael and St. George, Indian Empire, Royal Victorian Order, and the Order of the British Empire. The main prize reached back into the period somewhere between 1346 and 1348.

Even by that early date, knighthood was losing the meaning it had possessed during the Crusades. The early Crusaders chose the Virgin Mary as their spiritual leader. Some groups practiced celibacy and were like armed religious orders. The status of woman in the Western World advanced as it had not in a thousand years.

But by the time knighthood came to England it was mainly a kind of movement dedicated to splendid tilting tournaments, organized game hunts, and the composition of sonnets and madrigals aimed at "ladyloves," often the more attractive wives of more elderly knights.

Its corruption became fantastic as commoners rose in knighthood and knights of "gentle birth" found their fortunes dwindling because villages no longer were interested in paying them for protection. Knights were known to sell their children to persons wanting a child of noble countenance, or enter them into marriage contracts with richer families at ages as tender as five years. Needy knights sold knighthoods to any clod who could pay the price.

Order slowly returned to knighthood in general and the Order of the Garter especially. It was lifted from its own refuse over a long period until today it is as discreet as it is impotent. Sir Winston can wreak no mischief as a K. G., a fact hardly true of a bygone knight such as the Black Prince. Originally limited to the monarch, the Prince of Wales, and 24 others, the roster of knights of the Garter is far from filled, and its ancient privileges long since disallowed or fallen into disesteem.

Winnie, the eternal, has joined a club that has had a good record of deportment over the past several centuries. Only two black sheep, and one of these is justly revered in Ireland. In 1621, Sir Francis Michell did something which prompted the five officers of the order to hack the spurs from his heels, sever his sword belt and break his sword over his head—right in Westminster Hall.

And in 1916, Sir Roger Casement was hanged in London. He was knighted five years before as Britain's foremost trouble-shooter in the expansion of its commercial empire, particularly in Africa and South America. Two years after his dubbing as knight he returned to his native Dublin and joined the fight for Irish independence. Rebuffed in his efforts to gain immediate independence he sought support in the U. S. and Berlin. In Berlin he attempted to interest the Kaiser in invading Ireland. But Berlin was aloof. It sent him back in a u-boat, accompanied by a shipment of ammunition for the Irish revolutionary army. The shipment was intercepted by the British and Casement was arrested shortly after being landed from the sub.

My relatives along the Shannon and friends along the Thames assure me that there is very little prospect that Sir Winston will engage in similar activities in behalf of a united Ireland.

Purchase Of An Empire

The day will go little noticed in much of the United States, but April 30 will be the sesquicentennial of the greatest single acquisition of territory by the United States. The instruments which effected the Louisiana Purchase were dated April 30, 1803.

The formal celebration of the event will take place in New Orleans on December 20, the date on which the United States officially took the new domain over from France. But it was the April 30 date that marked the culmination of a mission—when Minister to France Robert R. Livingston and special envoy James Monroe completed the deal with Napoleon that brought to the United States an area in which more than 23 million people now live, territory that has gone to make up all or part of 15 states.

The cost came to about four cents an acre. Congress had authorized Monroe to spend $10 million to buy an island at the mouth of the Mississippi, or at the very least the right to deposit goods there. Livingston and Monroe committed themselves to $15 million. For that they brought back with them the title to a vast, largely unexplored area—where now lie the oil of Oklahoma, Texas and Louisiana, the gold and silver of Colorado, the timber lands of Minnesota, the cotton of Arkansas, the corn fields of Kansas, Missouri and Iowa, the wheatlands of Nebraska and the Dakotas, the copper of Montana, much of the cattle range.

The transaction also established at least two constitutional principles; the right of the President and the Senate to obtain foreign soil by treaty, and then to incorporate it into the Union. Jefferson, the strict constructionist, himself believed that "an act beyond the Constitution" had been done. He prepared a constitutional amendment that would validate the Louisiana Purchase, dropped the idea only when convinced that no amendment was needed.

There were loud objections to the purchase which doubled the territory of the United States at that time by adding almost all the land between the Rockies and the Mississippi and from the Gulf of Mexico to Canada. But the Senate ratified the treaty on October 19, 1803, and two days later France and the United States exchanged ratifications.

The first state to be admitted from the new territory was Louisiana itself. It was a hundred years later, when New Mexico became a state in 1912, before all the new territory achieved statehood.

Some persons in 1803 worried about the vast expense of the purchase—equal to five and one-third miles of silver-wagon loads! Others feared the depopulation of the East through a vast migration to the new lands. Still others thought the new nation was swallowing more territory than it could digest.

But the mass of the people pronounced the purchase a bargain. This it has proved to be, though Bonaparte used the $15 million he gained from it to go to war with England, to his eventual destruction; though it spurred Pickering, Griswold, Tracy, Plumer, and eventually, Burr, to plot a separate empire.

Selling Rubber Plants

The administration is taking steps to get rid of some sections of government owned industry. As a starter, President Eisenhower has recommended that the government get out of the synthetic rubber business. The President's action approves a proposal made by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

There are a total of 28 synthetic plants now under government ownership, but being managed by private firms on a fee basis. Total initial cost to the government was $550,000,000, but due to depreciation the value now is estimated at approximately 60 per cent of that figure.

Members of Congress, who will be called upon to place final approval on any plans for sale of the plants, generally agree that this is a good time to cut the plants loose. A deterring factor in the past has been the status of the nation's stockpile of rubber. There is now an adequate synthetic rubber supply for both defense and civilian needs.

Under tentative proposals sales of the plants will be on a negotiated basis, although fine points of the deals will be threshed out in Congress. Plants which aren't sold in an allotted period would be placed on a standby basis so that there would be no competition with those producing under private ownership.

It is estimated that two pears will be required to denationalize the government-owned synthetic rubber industry.

"Discovering" Buffalo

That valiant soldier, Viscount Montgomery of Alamein, on his visit to America has seen many things he planned to in advance, including a "baseball match." No Columbus he, but he did inadvertently make one discovery a little to his chagrin.

The guest of Canada at Ottawa, its capital, he heard somebody mention the name of a city and inquired, "Where's Buffalo?"

Not know the whereabouts of the Queen City of the Lakes? It was unthinkable, as the Buffalo Chamber of Commerce informed the general in a lengthy telegram detailing its industries and geographical advantages. Montgomery in a letter by his own hand expressed thanks for the telegram and regret for his ignorance.

But before it was dispatched he flew over Buffalo and saw it from the air. Buffalo was appeased. Maybe there's a little moral here.

From a great commander nobody expects the discretion Falstaff said was "the better part of valor." But tact is not taboo. Can one imagine an American five-star general in London asking, "Where's Glasgow?"

Speed Is The Culprit

Although 1952 was the worst accident year in the history of the automobile industry, such figures as are available for 1953 indicate that the current year will break all records, unless there is a sharp reversal of trend. Insurance companies which write automobile accident insurance are constantly readjusting rates in an effort to cover losses.

More than 2,000,000 casualties were logged in automobile accidents last year, with a death total of 37,600.

Analysis of the figures indicates that excessive speed was the cause of most fatalities. Speed killed 13,430 persons and injured nearly 600,000. Other pertinent items: Saturday is the most dangerous day of the week on the road: 40 per cent of the deaths and 36 per cent of the injuries occurred on weekends. There are morals galore here for those who want to absorb them.

The sorriest commentary on the underlying cause of traffic accidents is the fact that drivers live under the sublime impression that it can happen to somebody else—but not to them.

Gout Is Better Understood Now

Gout was said to be more common 50 to 100 years ago. Old-timers noted that it occurred in heavy eaters, more so among those who consumed large quantities of meat. Men usually were affected and the disorder was rare in children, or women who had not yet passed thru the menopause. Beyond that, little was known about the disease, its chemical nature, and its treatment.

The disorder is still with us but no longer represents the mystery it was to the medical profession of previous centuries. Radioactive isotopes, obtained from the atom smasher, have helped modern physicians to a better understanding of the condition. Eating too much meat is only part of the story. The malady often "runs in families" and is prone to occur in those who have difficulty in utilizing uric acid. In this respect, it resembles diabetes, in which sugar is not metabolized properly. In gout, the system is too efficient so far as uric acid is concerned. The use of isotopes has demonstrated that production of this substance is too good and as a result most victims have more than they need. There is an increased concentration in the blood and large deposits in the bones and cartilages of the body. This leads to periodic attacks of gouty arthritis in which the various joints become red, swollen, and painful. The big toe is favored and whenever the structure is involved most individuals think of gout immediately.

The attack makes its appearance at night as a rule and pain reaches its height within two or three hours. Many bouts are preceded by overeating, an alcoholic spree, an operation, or the treatment of another disease, such as a liver shot for anemia. When untreated, discomfort lasts seven days or longer and then disappears spontaneously. Return engagements are the rule and, as the years pass, they become more frequent and last longer. Ultimately chronic gout intervenes.

In the last decade, several new treatments have been reported, including ACTH, cortisone, Benemid, and Butazolidin. These agents help alleviate pain and some lower the amount of uric acid in the system. But the newcomers are not always used because they have no advantage over colchine, a time honored remedy. This product is easy to take and overdosage is difficult because too much produces nausea, vomiting, or diarrhea. The substance usually is continued until plain is relieved. The salicylates, like aspirin, also have an effect upon uric acid and when used in large amounts will ease distress.

The individual generally is comfortable between attacks. Recurrences are kept to a minimum by avoiding foods rich in purines such as sweetbreads, liver, brains, beef, kidneys, meat stocks, anchovies, and sardines. Cofee, tea, cocoa, and alcohol must be restricted, as well as codiments like pepper, paprika, horseradish, catsup, spices, and mustard. But the gout sufferer need not starve; he can eat cereals and breads (except those made from whole grain), macaroni, spaghetti, noodles, cheese, eggs, moderate amounts of butter and other fats, fruits of all kinds, gelatin, buttermilk, most vegetables (except lentils, asparagus, cauliflower, lima beans, mushrooms, navy beans, peas, and spinach). Sugar, sweets, and pies are allowed, as well as vegetable and cream soups.

No, but surgery combined with antibiotic treatment helps to control each flare-up. Meanwhile, as new antibiotics appear, it may be that one will become available that will combat the causative germs in your particular case. The new enzymes, such as tryptar and varidose, may be used as adjuncts.

Railroad Lobbyist At Golf Club Influences Ike Against St. Lawrence Seaway; Republican Senators Getting Hostile Mail Re Tidelands Oil

WASHINGTON—For years it has been a White House custom to publish the names of Presidential callers. This is done on the theory that the American people have a right to know who talks to or tries to influence the most important personage in the nation.

However, the White House has declined to make public the golfing partners of the President—except for an occasional senator such as Taft—on the ground that Ike's golfing partners would be hounded by lobbyists who would try to influence the President through his golfing partners.

Actually, those who golf or visit with the President in Augusta or at the Burning Tree Club in Washington can vitally influence national policy.

For instance, William Faricy, astute, charming president of the Association of American Railroads, visited with Ike at Burning Tree recently. Faricy, one of the ablest and most personable representatives of big business in the capital, is anxious to block construction of the St. Lawrence Seaway because of its competition with the railroads.

Every President of the United States, so far, has been for the St. Lawrence project. So have such top Republicans as Dewey and Taft. However, Burning Tree golfer Faricy apparently performed miracles.

For, after talking with him, Ike told Senator Wiley of Wisconsin that he was opposed to the seaway. Furthermore, he used all the arguments of the railroads against the seaway. Wiley, who used to be counsel for the Milwaukee Railroad when Faricy was counsel for the Northwestern, recognized the arguments immediately.

Wiley is a stanch advocate of the project which would connect the Great Lakes with the Atlantic Ocean. Uninfluenced by the President, he proceeded with his St. Lawrence hearings.

Later the President changed his mind. He did not do so, however, until after the news leaked of his visit with persuasive railroadman Faricy at the Burning Tree Country Club. After the leak Ike reversed himself, lined up with other Presidents of the United States for the seaway.

In other words, it looks as if the traditional policy of making public the names of Presidential callers, whether at the White House or on the golf course, was a good one. (Lists of those cruising with Truman on the Williamsburg were published. Ike is substituting the golf links for the Presidential yacht).

NOTE: Publication of White House callers and golfing partners carries out the spirit of the Lobbyist Registration Act and the Foreign Agents Registration Act, namely that there may be nothing wrong about representing certain business groups or certain foreign countries as long as it's not concealed from the public.

Hostile Tidelands Mail

Eisenhower senators aren't saying so publicly but some of them are not at all happy about the tidelands oil policy of their administration.

The mail of Sen. Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts, for instance, is running 200 to 1 against him because of his support for tidelands oil. Massachusetts, of course, has nothing to gain from giving the $300,000,000 offshore oil wealth to Texas, California and Louisiana, and the voting public in a lot of these non-oil states has become pretty well educated by the Senate filibuster.

Another thing worrying some Eisenhower senators is the President's failure to support his own cabinet members regarding the extent of the tidelands oil concession.

Both Secretary of State Dulles and Attorney General Brownell were emphatic in congressional testimony that the three tidelands states must not have title to more than the historical boundaries—namely, three miles offshore except in the case of Texas and Florida which get 10½ miles. In contrast, some tidelands senators want 100 miles or more offshore and the present bill leaves this to be decided in the vague future.

However, the President, queried by the Senate regarding the deliberate vagueness of the current bill, ducked a definite stand. He did not side with his two cabinet members, worried that Russia and Mexico might press similar offshore claims.

"Giveaway Administration"

Another problem worrying Republicans is the new trademark which the Democrats are cleverly conspiring to pin on Ike's administration—namely "the giveaway administration."

"You don't practice economy by giving away national assets," argue the Democrats. "Nor does this giveaway policy balance the budget."

Democratic leaders are already preparing a list of so-called "giveaways" upon which they will ring all the changes. Here are some of them:

Synthetic Rubber Plants—These were built at a cost of millions of dollars after Japan cut off rubber from the Malays and Indonesia. Now, with the Communists staging a new drive into French Indo-China on the borders of this same rubber area, the administration is insisting on selling these rubber factories for about 15 cents on the dollar.

Synthetic Oil-From-Coal Plant — This experimental laboratory at Louisiana, Mo., for making oil out of coal, cost the government $75,000,000. However, the oil lobbies are opposed, and Secretary of the Interior McKay plans to sell it to private industry for a song.

Tidelands Oil — Revenue from this wealthy oil area would bring several millions annually into the Treasury, help balance the budget. Democrats plan to list the heavy oil-company contributions to Ike's campaign chest to show that this is a political pay-off not in the national interest.

Public Lands—Western senators are already talking about giving the public lands held by the federal government to each state.

Ducks and Salmon—The firing of Albert M. Day, head of Wildlife and Fisheries Bureau, at the behest of certain private game-preserve owners will be shown by the Democrats as a move to benefit the wealthy few who can afford game-hunting reservations.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Ammunition Scandal

It is difficult to understand why, if our industries were capable of such successful production in World War II, they fell down during the Korean War. Obviously, that could not be, because when American industry gets a contract, it produces and delivers the goods. Therefore the trouble must be in the Pentagon.

Now, let us have a little look at Pentagon history:

A small number of officers were extremely important to the successful procurement of supplies for the Army during World War II. Until about January 1941, procurement was handled in the same general way in which it has been handled during the Korean War; namely, through the chiefs of Supply Arms and Services and under the general guidance, as to requirements, and with considerable interfering supervision of G-4.

About January 1941 the supervision was taken out of the control of G-4 and an organization was set up under General Brehon Burke Somervell as the commanding general of the Service of Supply, later termed the Army Services Forces. In this setup the chiefs of Supply Arms and Services reported to General Somervell. Although the procurement problems were enormously difficult, they were surprisingly well met.

It is interesting in this connection to note that in previous major wars there had always been a change in the men who occupied the office of Quartermaster General. This was not done in World War II because of the successful operation of this organization by the then Quartermaster General Edmund B. Gregory. The handling of the Quartermaster responsibilities during World War II was one of the outstanding successes in our military history.

The Ordnance Department was headed in 1940 by General Charles M. Wesson. The driving force in the procurement of ammunition and of other Ordnance supplies was Lieutenant General Levin H. Campbell, Jr., who established an outstanding reputation. In this capacity he was responsible for seeing to it that new facilities were provided for the manufacture of arms and ammunition. He had under his direction four officers, three of them regulars, Colonel Forrest C. Shaffer, Colonel John C. Raaen, and Colonel Henry B. Sheets, and one civilian, Colonel Herbert White, who was from the automotive industry.

When General Wesson's term of office expired, General Campbell became chief of Ordnance and his usual drive and ability spread through the entire organization.

One of the other major and most difficult factors in ammunition production was the construction for the housing of manufacturing facilities. This was originally under General Edmund B. Gregory, the quartermaster general, with General Somervell in direct charge.

In both ammunition procurement and construction every effort was made to avoid delay, and delays were avoided. The officers had a definite understanding of the needs of the troops, although they were not responsible for estimating these needs.

Certainly General Campbell, General Somervell and General Leslie R. Groves, who was deputy chief of construction before he went to the Manhattan Project, had a better appreciation of the need for small arms ammunition in the summer of 1941 than seemed to be existent anywhere else. They knew their business and recognized their responsibilities. They seemed to feel keenly the obligation to see that troops in action had the ammunition they needed. There were no failures.

The same kind of energy and responsibility went into the Manhattan Project, when General Leslie R. Groves managed it. The atom bomb was made and used before the war was over. When General Groves was assigned to the Manhattan Project, Secretary Stimson told him that he was to do anything that was necessary, if by so doing it he could complete the project one day sooner.

Many other names may be mentioned in connection with this great work which won a war by production and supply. Why is it that none of these men of experience is being used even in a consultative capacity? Many of them are in private industry using their vast experience, much of it gained while in the Army. Is there no way to use them for America?

I come back to the subject of our profligate use of manpower. These officers have had a wonderful training; we retire them at their peak to make room for the next generation. Nevertheless, there ought to be a way of using them, if only in a consultative capacity.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—The "Filibuster" has come into its own. This method of "talking a bill to death" has been condemned as obstructive and as reactionary and as undemocratic, but today it has been given prestige and respectability by the "liberals" and "super-liberals" themselves.

Civil rights for minorities is one of the casualties of the misguided strategy of these "liberals." For now the latter cannot persuasively raise their voices in protest when legislation to insure civil rights may be proposed for a vote in the Senate and a filibuster results.

The argument on the "tidelands" oil bill has been going on during a 19-day filibuster in which opponents of the measure—many of them hitherto the champions of "civil rights" legislation as well as of proposed changes in Senate rules to limit debate—have made use of the filibuster as a device to delay, if not prevent, a vote on the pending "tidelands" bill.

In Democratic Platform

Many a campaign speech last year and many a protest during the 1952 Democratic National Convention advocated changes in the Senate rules so as to limit debate. Denunciation of filibusters was put into the Democratic platform. One would have thought that these protests were raised objectively and without thought that the events of these last few days would confirm the cry that a filibuster is wrong only when it is made against a bill being sponsored by your own side and that it is right when it is made to help defeat what your own party is fighting.

What is particularly surprising is that the Northern Democrats would so conspicuously demonstrate the wisdom of their Southern brethren in hitherto using the filibuster. Everybody knows that a substantial majority in the last Congress voted for the "tidelands" oil bill, and hence it is not a new issue or one which can be laid at the doorstep of President Eisenhower. Certainly he came out for the bill before being nominated last year but he did so in recognition of the stand taken by the majority of his own party.

Even so, the vote cast by Democrats for the "tidelands" legislation does not justify the charge that the Republicans are guilty of "giving away" federal lands that "belong to the people." For then the Democrats are equally guilty according to the tally in the last Congress.

Thus, 109 Democrats in the House voted on July 30, 1951, for the "tidelands" bill and 91 against it, when it passed by a total vote of 265 to 109.

Also, in the Senate on April 2, 1952, there were 24 Democrats for the bill and 24 Democrats against it, so it can be seen that a majority of the total number of Democrats in both houses favored the "tidelands" legislation.

When the final conference report was voted on in the House, 94 Democrats voted for the bill and 70 against it. The Senate agreed to it by a voice vote, which indicated that the Democrats had no particular reason to make a record vote on the measure and didn't seriously object to its passage.

Filibuster Delays Legislation

Congress has been delayed in getting started on important legislation at this session because a minority in the Senate have carried on a filibuster on this bill. The participants in the effort to defeat the bill disclaim, of course, any intention to filibuster, and one of them says that the purpose of the prolonged debate is only to "educate" the people on the issues. It certainly doesn't take 19 days to do anything of that kind, especially on an issue as well known as the "tidelands" bill.

About the only point germane to the issue being made is that the proposed legislation would take away from all the people the oil that belongs to them and give it to a few states. But in those few states are a substantial number of Americans—not foreigners. Hence, if the legislation does give to the state governments the right to lease the oil lands to their people, it is hard to convince any fair-finded person that it is all right for the state governments of Texas or Louisiana or Florida to lease mineral resources for development by its citizens within the land boundaries of the state, as they do now, but not within the three miles of submerged areas lying, for example, along the coast of Texas, as proposed in the bill.

The whole filibuster is an ill-advised step that will cost the "liberals" far more than they can possibly gain by their exhibitionism. For, in the long run, the public will remember that it was the "liberals" who conducted this filibuster and consequently there cannot be much censure visited upon the "wicked reactionaries" when they make use of the same device to delay or defeat legislation obviously desired by a majority if a vote were permitted to be taken.

On The Line

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK—(INS)—"Rise, Sir Winston," the beautiful young queen said at Windsor, putting away the sword with which she had touched his shoulders. And the old man with the face of a wise and freshly spanked baby climbed to his feet and stood for a moment with his back almost as straight as it had been 55 years before, as a young lieutenant with the South African Light Horse.

Winston Churchill had achieved knighthood in the "most noble" Order of the Garter.

Not even the British are quite certain about the dawn of knighthood and chivalry or of the origin of their most prized order, that of the Garter. The practice of bestowing promising or noble young men with special rank, prestige and in some cases the right to plunder, may have begun with early Germanic tribes. Under Charlemagne (died 814) the ritual attending the elevation to knighthood — the placing of the king's sword on the shoulders or head of the kneeling knight-to-be and the order to rise in knighthood—was well established.

Churchill's newest honor, which does not prevent his continuing to serve in Commons and is not transferable to his children, is Britain's oldest and most exclusive of orders of knighthood: The Garter, Thistle, St. Patrick, Bath, Star of India, St. Michael and St. George, Indian Empire, Royal Victorian Order, and the Order of the British Empire. The main prize reached back into the period somewhere between 1346 and 1348.

Even by that early date, knighthood was losing the meaning it had possessed during the Crusades. The early Crusaders chose the Virgin Mary as their spiritual leader. Some groups practiced celibacy and were like armed religious orders. The status of woman in the Western World advanced as it had not in a thousand years.

But by the time knighthood came to England it was mainly a kind of movement dedicated to splendid tilting tournaments, organized game hunts, and the composition of sonnets and madrigals aimed at "ladyloves," often the more attractive wives of more elderly knights.

Its corruption became fantastic as commoners rose in knighthood and knights of "gentle birth" found their fortunes dwindling because villages no longer were interested in paying them for protection. Knights were known to sell their children to persons wanting a child of noble countenance, or enter them into marriage contracts with richer families at ages as tender as five years. Needy knights sold knighthoods to any clod who could pay the price.

Order slowly returned to knighthood in general and the Order of the Garter especially. It was lifted from its own refuse over a long period until today it is as discreet as it is impotent. Sir Winston can wreak no mischief as a K. G., a fact hardly true of a bygone knight such as the Black Prince. Originally limited to the monarch, the Prince of Wales, and 24 others, the roster of knights of the Garter is far from filled, and its ancient privileges long since disallowed or fallen into disesteem.

Winnie, the eternal, has joined a club that has had a good record of deportment over the past several centuries. Only two black sheep, and one of these is justly revered in Ireland. In 1621, Sir Francis Michell did something which prompted the five officers of the order to hack the spurs from his heels, sever his sword belt and break his sword over his head—right in Westminster Hall.

And in 1916, Sir Roger Casement was hanged in London. He was knighted five years before as Britain's foremost trouble-shooter in the expansion of its commercial empire, particularly in Africa and South America. Two years after his dubbing as knight he returned to his native Dublin and joined the fight for Irish independence. Rebuffed in his efforts to gain immediate independence he sought support in the U. S. and Berlin. In Berlin he attempted to interest the Kaiser in invading Ireland. But Berlin was aloof. It sent him back in a u-boat, accompanied by a shipment of ammunition for the Irish revolutionary army. The shipment was intercepted by the British and Casement was arrested shortly after being landed from the sub.

My relatives along the Shannon and friends along the Thames assure me that there is very little prospect that Sir Winston will engage in similar activities in behalf of a united Ireland.

Seven Are Hurt In Car Mishaps

Nine-year-old Helen Haseiberger, 326 Grand Avenue, was slightly injured at noon Monday when she ran in front of a car driven by Thomas Jennings Barnes, 43, of 1715 Bedford Street.

Police said the accident occurred at Race Street and Oldtown Road. The child was examined at Memorial Hospital, and no charges were filed against Barnes.

Six other persons were hurt Sunday night in a two-car collision on Route 26, a mile south of Everett. Pennsylvania State Police listed the operators as Donald R Chicarella, 25, RD 1, Flintstone, and Mrs. Edna Winch, 48, RD 3, Everett.

Injured in the Chicarella auto were the driver; his wife, Juanita, 21; their three-year-old son, Donald, and Dexter Beck, 22, also of Flintstone. The latter's wife escaped harm.

Mrs. Winch and her daughter, Cleda, 18, were admitted to Bedford County Memorial Hospital where occupants of the Chicarella vehicle received treatment.

The Golden Spike, which was driven at the junction of the transcontinental railroad at Ogden, Ut., in 1869, now reposes in a San Francisco bank vault.

Baering Down On The News

By ARTHUR "BUGS" BAER
(Distributed By INS)

Keep Your Money Dry

In case you're wondering about the gold under Fort Knox it's not mutual.

In the last check-up there was a shortage of one hundred and fifty boffos of the realm. In the overall picture that isn't a loose button.

You've probably sat there rocking away in a portable tizzy wondering about that ingot loot. The national misering is on the same somber profundity of an elephant cemetery.

The financial frustration of my career was due to bad timing. I soldiered at Fort Knox before there was money there.

I experience a dash of absentee landlordism over the stashed plunder. Is there any evaporation due to hot-breathed kibitzing? Is there a suspicious nocturnal clink of a vagrant tin cup? Is the night watchman there on the merits of his own hawklike insomnia? Or is his argus-glimmed monitoring a delayed case of holdover nepotism?

Utah has more natural bridges than any other state in the United States.

I told my secret to the night...

MY VOICE seemed too big for such a tiny listener, so I whispered: "Feeling better, old man, now that your tummy's full?" His answer was a fluttery, baby sigh — but I heard it.

My son knows I hear his laughter, his cries and his sighs — but he doesn't know he is responsible for my hearing them. Some day I'll tell him . . .

I'll tell him that a few months after his daddy and I were married, I noticed I couldn't always catch the end of sentences. I'll tell him how his dad asked, "When do we eat?" and I answered, "Meet? Meet whom?" I'll tell him how the glorious sounds of every day closed off . . . how the birds stopped singing . . . the milkman stopped tinkling his bottles . . . the children next door stopped laughing. And I'll tell him the truth about his dad suggesting a hearing aid and how angry I got.

Why? I guess I thought it would make me self-conscious. I realize now how much of the burden your dad carried. He watched me grow lonely. He heard me cry at night. He worried about me during the day.

But it was you who made me do something about it. I went to a hearing-aid specialist who showed me the wonderful, new hearing aids. I was amazed that a hearing aid could weigh so little — a few ounces. It was no bigger than a package of cigarettes, but what precision!

Yes, I felt self-conscious the first time I wore it in public. I felt the same way the first time I wore my glasses outdoors. But, in a few days, I discovered that people thought nothing about it. They took it for granted. And I was so busy listening, I forgot it, too!

Yes, you're responsible for my hearing, Son. I did so want to see and feel and hear my first baby.

Seven Are Hurt In Car Mishaps

Nine-year-old Helen Haseiberger, 326 Grand Avenue, was slightly injured at noon Monday when she ran in front of a car driven by Thomas Jennings Barnes, 43, of 1715 Bedford Street.

Police said the accident occurred at Race Street and Oldtown Road. The child was examined at Memorial Hospital, and no charges were filed against Barnes.

Six other persons were hurt Sunday night in a two-car collision on Route 26, a mile south of Everett. Pennsylvania State Police listed the operators as Donald R Chicarella, 25, RD 1, Flintstone, and Mrs. Edna Winch, 48, RD 3, Everett.

Injured in the Chicarella auto were the driver; his wife, Juanita, 21; their three-year-old son, Donald, and Dexter Beck, 22, also of Flintstone. The latter's wife escaped harm.

Mrs. Winch and her daughter, Cleda, 18, were admitted to Bedford County Memorial Hospital where occupants of the Chicarella vehicle received treatment.

The Golden Spike, which was driven at the junction of the transcontinental railroad at Ogden, Ut., in 1869, now reposes in a San Francisco bank vault.

Baering Down On The News

(Distributed By INS)

Keep Your Money Dry

In case you're wondering about the gold under Fort Knox it's not mutual.

In the last check-up there was a shortage of one hundred and fifty boffos of the realm. In the overall picture that isn't a loose button.

You've probably sat there rocking away in a portable tizzy wondering about that ingot loot. The national misering is on the same somber profundity of an elephant cemetery.

The financial frustration of my career was due to bad timing. I soldiered at Fort Knox before there was money there.

I experience a dash of absentee landlordism over the stashed plunder. Is there any evaporation due to hot-breathed kibitzing? Is there a suspicious nocturnal clink of a vagrant tin cup? Is the night watchman there on the merits of his own hawklike insomnia? Or is his argus-glimmed monitoring a delayed case of holdover nepotism?

Utah has more natural bridges than any other state in the United States.

I told my secret to the night...

My voice seemed too big for such a tiny listener, so I whispered: "Feeling better, old man, now that your tummy's full?" His answer was a fluttery, baby sigh — but I heard it.

My son knows I hear his laughter, his cries and his sighs — but he doesn't know he is responsible for my hearing them. Some day I'll tell him . . .

I'll tell him that a few months after his daddy and I were married, I noticed I couldn't always catch the end of sentences. I'll tell him how his dad asked, "When do we eat?" and I answered, "Meet? Meet whom?" I'll tell him how the glorious sounds of every day closed off . . . how the birds stopped singing . . . the milkman stopped tinkling his bottles . . . the children next door stopped laughing. And I'll tell him the truth about his dad suggesting a hearing aid and how angry I got.

Why? I guess I thought it would make me self-conscious. I realize now how much of the burden your dad carried. He watched me grow lonely. He heard me cry at night. He worried about me during the day.

But it was you who made me do something about it. I went to a hearing-aid specialist who showed me the wonderful, new hearing aids. I was amazed that a hearing aid could weigh so little — a few ounces. It was no bigger than a package of cigarettes, but what precision!

Yes, I felt self-conscious the first time I wore it in public. I felt the same way the first time I wore my glasses outdoors. But, in a few days, I discovered that people thought nothing about it. They took it for granted. And I was so busy listening, I forgot it, too!

Yes, you're responsible for my hearing, Son. I did so want to see and feel and hear my first baby.

Gas Official Sees Shortage Next Winter

CHARLESTON, W. Va. April 28 (AP)—An official said today the natural gas supply of four Columbia Gas System companies would fall far short of meeting expected requirements of present customers on the peak day next winter.

The testimony was given before the Public Service Commission by R. W. Hitchman. He is vice president of United Fuel Gas Co. and Amere Gas Utilities Co., and testified also on behalf of Manufacturers Light and Heat Co. and Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Co.

The four Columbia subsidiaries want PSC permission to refuse gas service to new space heating and industrial customers.

The hearing on the petition was recessed to May 20 after direct testimony by Hitchman today and cross-examination of him by counsel for parties protesting the application.

An exhibit was entered to show that on the peak day next winter the 15 Columbia operating companies will be an estimated 327,300,000 cubic feet short of requirements, even if a freeze is authorized on space heating and industrial sales. The figure was based on the assumption the peak day would occur Feb. 1.

Paw Paw Citizens Will Be Asked To Set Up GOC Post

A meeting designed to arouse interest of Paw Paw, W. Va., citizens in the Ground Observer Corps program will be held this evening at 7 o'clock (EST) in the Paw Paw High School auditorium.

Walter Shockey Jr., Berkeley Springs, who arranged the meeting, said an Air Force representative would show movies and speak on the need for a Ground Observer Corps post at Paw Paw.

Shockey, who manages the Hancock, W. Va., airport, said the establishment of a post in Paw Paw would complete the network operated by the Pittsburgh Filter Center. At present, he said, only the southeast corner of the network (the Paw Paw area) is unprotected.

This means that low-flying enemy aircraft approaching from the southeast could be well inside the Pittsburgh center's area before they were reported.

Chief value of the GOC posts, said Shockey, is in detecting low-flying planes since radar detects only those planes travelling at altitudes of 3,000 feet or higher.

Shockey declared the need for a 24-hour post at Paw Paw is vital to the air defense system in the Maryland-West Virginia-Pennsylvania area. Men and women between the ages of 16 and 60 will be accepted as volunteer observers.

Applications for exchange of maturing F and G bonds may be made at any Federal Reserve Bank or branch. Local bankers will help interested persons to make application.

Gas Official Sees Shortage Next Winter

CHARLESTON, W. Va. April 28 (AP)—An official said today the natural gas supply of four Columbia Gas System companies would fall far short of meeting expected requirements of present customers on the peak day next winter.

The testimony was given before the Public Service Commission by R. W. Hitchman. He is vice president of United Fuel Gas Co. and Amere Gas Utilities Co., and testified also on behalf of Manufacturers Light and Heat Co. and Cumberland and Allegheny Gas Co.

The four Columbia subsidiaries want PSC permission to refuse gas service to new space heating and industrial customers.

The hearing on the petition was recessed to May 20 after direct testimony by Hitchman today and cross-examination of him by counsel for parties protesting the application.

An exhibit was entered to show that on the peak day next winter the 15 Columbia operating companies will be an estimated 327,300,000 cubic feet short of requirements, even if a freeze is authorized on space heating and industrial sales. The figure was based on the assumption the peak day would occur Feb. 1.

Kitzmiller Reported In "Fine" Condition

The condition of Russell Kitzmiller, 23, of Elk Garden, who was injured early Monday morning in an auto accident at Allegheny Front, last night was reported as "fine" by attaches of Potomac Valley Hospital, Keyser.

He was reported driving down Allegheny Front when he apparently lost control of the car and crashed into the guard rails.

Paw Paw Citizens Will Be Asked To Set Up GOC Post

A meeting designed to arouse interest of Paw Paw, W. Va., citizens in the Ground Observer Corps program will be held this evening at 7 o'clock (EST) in the Paw Paw High School auditorium.

Walter Shockey Jr., Berkeley Springs, who arranged the meeting, said an Air Force representative would show movies and speak on the need for a Ground Observer Corps post at Paw Paw.

Shockey, who manages the Hancock, W. Va., airport, said the establishment of a post in Paw Paw would complete the network operated by the Pittsburgh Filter Center. At present, he said, only the southeast corner of the network (the Paw Paw area) is unprotected.

This means that low-flying enemy aircraft approaching from the southeast could be well inside the Pittsburgh center's area before they were reported.

Chief value of the GOC posts, said Shockey, is in detecting low-flying planes since radar detects only those planes travelling at altitudes of 3,000 feet or higher.

Shockey declared the need for a 24-hour post at Paw Paw is vital to the air defense system in the Maryland-West Virginia - Pennsylvania area. Men and women between the ages of 16 and 60 will be accepted as volunteer observers.

Government Bonds May Be Converted

The minimum denomination available in the new three and one-quarter bonds is $500 but holders of smaller denomination Series F and G bonds may exchange them for the next higher multiple of $500 upon payment of the cash difference.

Applications for exchange of maturing F and G bonds may be made at any Federal Reserve Bank or branch. Local bankers will help interested persons to make application.

My New York
by Mel Heimer

NEW YORK—I walked up Broadway in the rain the other night, looking lazily at the big, blurry electric signs and listening to the gumchewers and the neck-stretchers bowing before their idols. "Oh, Jennie, I just wanna see Rosalind Russell; she's so wonderful." . . . "Did you ever in ya life see anything like that Danny Kaye? Just the greatest, that's all" . . . and so on.

It was the way it always is, the little people making their customary obeisance to the strange white fathers and mothers of show business, the raffish and charming ones who are looked on as superior souls. However, listening to them, I got a funny thought: You think somebody like that is great? I wish you had known Annie Scott.

Annie Scott died about a year ago. She was my mother-in-law, and I'll sit patiently by for a minute or two while you get the jokes out of your system. The reason I would have liked all those simple Brooklynites and Jerseysites—in town for a night at the movies or the theater, to bend the knee to the wonderful Rosalind or the fantastic Danny or the scintillating Bea—to have known Annie Scott is that she was the second most wonderful person I have known in my life. And that takes in royalty, statesmen, dictators, church leaders of the world and heavyweight champions, from 42nd Street to the Black Forest and back.

My mother-in-law was a woman who, born in the highlands of Scotland, rode horses bareback, shot leaves off a tree at a hundred yards, dangled her feet in the rushing waters of Scottish streams and, when the time came, sailed off to America and turned to the business of raising three sons and a daughter.

Annie Scott got them raised better than any woman ever has raised four children (I'm a little prejudiced, there), she stayed around long enough to have a lot of fun with a sassy grandchild who was the apple of her clear eye and then, at last, she died. That was her life. I saw her live some of it—and, sitting here in the dark of the city night, smoking a pipe and listening to a little Beethoven on the radio, I've been meditating, and I can't scratch up anyone who lived a better life.

Along Broadway, some people will tell you they never made them any greater than a certain cynical writer—who, if you couldn't be of use to him and were a little man nobody knew, would cut you dead. I have had other Broadway people tell me with a straight face that a blubbery, mean-drunk saloon keeper is the most wonderful guy who ever lived, once you got to know him.

I remember a movie producer who died a little while ago and the endless tears that were shed over him—a nervous, jumpy man with the feel of life dulled in him. I, a man who has known Annie Scott, was supposed to go along with things and call these people great.

Annie Scott, born Mackay, never did anything wrong in her life. I am a gambling man and I will lay you eight to one on that. There wasn't a dog in the neighborhood that didn't have her house marked out as a sucker spot, where he always could lay teeth to a can of dogfood.

She never once poked her nose into her children's lives, once they were grown, and yet, whenever they needed her she always was there. She gave her whole life to a good man named Jack Scott and the family she raised with him. You can tell me that Albert Schweitzer, the good man of Africa, the pure of heart, is a greater person than she was, and I cannot believe it.

She is gone a year now and there still are people, of whom I am one, who just cannot believe it. And along Broadway on the rainy nights, there are a million people who never knew her. She was a simple Scottish housewife. If the million people had known her, their lives would have been better. She was—and they will have to believe me—greater than Rosalind Russell or, yes, even Danny Kaye.

For a wedding that matches your dreams, acquaint yourself with tradition. Start practical planning early!

Secrets Of Charm
by John Robert Powers

If you are a girl with stars in your eyes and a solitaire on your finger, come down to earth long enough, the moment your date is decided, to gather your family into a conference. To express your heart's desire, your wedding must be in accord with your fiance's preference, your mother's dreams and your father's checkbook. You will have earned your diplomatic spurs by the time you have resolved all into one plan—and that you must.

Furthermore, every duty to be performed must be assigned and a timetable set up for the completion of each. For a large, formal wedding, invitations come early on the schedule. Waste not a day in compiling a list of the guests that both families wish to include. When tallied, place your order for the number you need and a few more besides. Arrange with the stationer to make delivery so that the addressing and mailing can be completed at least three weeks before the wedding.

Thoughtful Bride

As a thoughtful gesture, send several the moment they arrive to your groom's mother. She will treasure them as keepsakes and treasure you as a gracious girl.

In form, invitiations are as traditional as a wedding ring. They must be engraved, never printed, on white or cream double-fold vellum. For very formal ceremonies, sheets should be large enough to fold again before encasing in two envelopes. For less formal ones, a small double-sheet and one envelope is customary. Invitations to the reception must also be engraved on a matching card and enclosed as desired with the wedding invitation. The correct wording for both differs in various situations and is to be found in a book of etiquette or in consultation with a reliable stationer.

Traditional Form

Addressing, too, is tradition-bound. An outer envelope is addressed thusly:

Mr. and Mrs. Griffith Miller
16 Tenth Street
New York, 18
New York

When an inner envelope is used, the guest's last name—"Mr. and Mrs. Miller"—is all that is written.

Lohengrin may be your mood but stop the music long enough to attend to this and all the other details that assure its smooth flow on your wedding day!

70-Year-Old Bishop Tells Brutal Story Of 100-Mile "Death March"

By ROBERT JONES

LONDON, April 28 (AP)—A sprightly, 70-year old Anglican bishop told recently of a "death march" of more than 100 miles through the bitter wastes of North Korea that killed about 350 prisoners—most of them American GIs.

The Rt. Rev. Alfred Cooper, bishop of Korea who was freed with five other Britons and an Irish missionery after the Soviet began to woo the West, sat in a sunlit room and quietly described to newsmen the trek of terror.

He said about 700 American soldiers and 68 United Nations civilian internees—among them old people and children—were herded out of their prison camp at Manpo, on the Yalu River, Oct. 31, 1950, for the nine-day tramp to Chung Kang, northernmost town in Korea.

Ninety-Six Die On Way

Ninety-six of them died on the way. Two hundred and fifty—including four aged nuns—died afterward from exhaustion and lack of food, he said.

The bishop placed the blame on a tall North Korean police major they called "The Tiger."

"We never knew his real name—but he is a man who will always remain in my memory," said Bishop Cooper, in flat expressionless tones. "He drove the GIs and the civilians until some literally dropped by the wayside. What became of them after that we never found out.

"But I don't think it was intentional brutality on the part of the North Korean authorities—in fact I heard afterward that North Koran President Kim Il Sung had not desired it.

"It was a terrible, terrible march, but I think conditions were due to the confusion and chaos behind the North Koreans' lines. I think they wanted to get us quickly out of the way of the advancing American Army—I suppose they thought we were too valuable a prize to lose.

"After about four nights they managed to scrape up enough trucks to carry the old people and the children. The rest of us had to manage as best we could—some of the older civilians had to be half-carried for much of the way.

"And all the time we never had more than a bowl of millet to eat in the morning and again at night.

"Most of us started off with a few personal belongings—a blanket, a bowl to eat out of and a spoon.

March Goes On

"But as the march went on we threw most of these away—even a toothbrush seemed too heavy to carry."

At the end, the remnants of the column were put into crowded rooms in small Korean houses.

The white-haired bishop went on, speaking slowly:

"There were about 12 people herded with me in a small room 10 feet by 12 feet. Nine people died in that room between November and December."

His party of civilians moved four times after that—and each time conditions got better.

"In 1951 we got into the hands of the Chinese, and found we had much more liberty and food," he said. "They gave us rice and pork sometimes. It wasn't much, but I don't think they got any more than we did.

The bishop, who has spent 45 years in Korea, said his aim is to get back to Seoul after he has had a rest.

Of the North Koreans, he said:

"I didn't see any signs of despair among them. Their country is flat—terribly flat—because of the fighting over it. But their attitude seems to be 'We've taken on 42 nations for the past three years—we can take it.'"

Bishop Cooper said that, once aboard the Siberian train on the way home, his party found the Russians "very cheerful and friendly."

"There were two of them who used to come and talk to us—we called them Blondie and Fatty—some of our party used to have long arguments with them about communism, but they didn't seem to mind," he said.

"The engine driver was another cheerful Russian—he came along to our coach one day and insisted on kissing us all."

70-Year-Old Bishop Tells Brutal Story Of 100-Mile "Death March"

By ROBERT JONES

LONDON, April 28 (AP)—A sprightly, 70-year old Anglican bishop told recently of a "death march" of more than 100 miles through the bitter wastes of North Korea that killed about 350 prisoners—most of them American GIs.

The Rt. Rev. Alfred Cooper, bishop of Korea who was freed with five other Britons and an Irish missionery after the Soviet began to woo the West, sat in a sunlit room and quietly described to newsmen the trek of terror.

He said about 700 American soldiers and 68 United Nations civilian internees—among them old people and children—were herded out of their prison camp at Manpo, on the Yalu River, Oct. 31, 1950, for the nine-day tramp to Chung Kang, northernmost town in Korea.

Ninety-Six Die On Way

Ninety-six of them died on the way. Two hundred and fifty—including four aged nuns—died afterward from exhaustion and lack of food, he said.

The bishop placed the blame on a tall North Korean police major they called "The Tiger."

"We never knew his real name—but he is a man who will always remain in my memory," said Bishop Cooper, in flat expressionless tones. "He drove the GIs and the civilians until some literally dropped by the wayside. What became of them after that we never found out.

"But I don't think it was intentional brutality on the part of the North Korean authorities—in fact I heard afterward that North Kor an President Kim Il Sung had not desired it.

"It was a terrible, terrible march, but I think conditions were due to the confusion and chaos behind the North Koreans' lines. I think they wanted to get us quickly out of the way of the advancing American Army—I suppose they thought we were too valuable a prize to lose.

"After about four nights they managed to scrape up enough trucks to carry the old people and the children. The rest of us had to manage as best we could—some of the older civilians had to be half-carried for much of the way.

"And all the time we never had more than a bowl of millet to eat in the morning and again at night.

"Most of us started off with a few personal belongings—a blanket, a bowl to eat out of and a spoon.

March Goes On

"But as the march went on we threw most of these away—even a toothbrush seemed too heavy to carry."

At the end, the remnants of the column were put into crowded rooms in small Korean houses.

The white-haired bishop went on, speaking slowly:

"There were about 12 people herded with me in a small room 10 feet by 12 feet. Nine people died in that room between November and December."

His party of civilians moved four times after that—and each time conditions got better.

Truck License Deadline Near

Midnight Thursday is the deadline for driving trucks and commercial vehicles without new license plates.

Tax Collector Ernest B. Treat, who has been selling plates to private owners of trucks grouped in Class E, reported over the weekend that he has sold about 1000 of these new license plates since the first of April.

He still is selling a few new automobile tags each day at his Court House office despite the fact that the deadline was March 31. Some of them were bought for new cars and others for cars whose owners have not been driving them this month.

Meanwhile, workers in Treat's office are beginning to prepare county and state real estate tax bills to be mailed to taxpayers near the end of May. Last week the county commissioners raised the county rate to $1.87 per $100 assessed valuation. The state rate is 3.04 cents per $100 valuation.

Treat expects to mail out about 21,000 bills just before Memorial Day. Traditionally about 90 per cent of the bills are paid in June when a discount of five per cent is allowed. In July the savings drops to four per cent and in August is three per cent.

Two Sentenced To Prison Terms

Two men charged with violations of parole were found guilty in Circuit Court yesterday by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris and given prison terms.

Herman R. Phillips, of Cash Valley Road, was ordered to serve two years in the House of Correction. He had been paroled last October for two years on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of his nine minor children with the understanding that he abstain from the use of intoxicants and support his family.

Curtis R. Portmess, of Baltimore, a former local man, was ordered to serve 18 months in the state penitentiary.

Portmess was brought back from Baltimore last week as a parole violator. He was convicted of embezzling $558.06 from the Charlton Brothers Transportation Company in April of 1950 and given a suspended sentence of 18 months.

Equity Suits Filed

Cresaptown Man Gets Five Years On Morals Charges

A Cresaptown man hailed into Circuit Court on three charges of sodomy was termed a "moral leper" by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris and was sentenced to five years in the state penitentiary on each of the three charges. The sentences are to run concurrently.

The accused, Philip Rowand Wagner, 45, entered a guilty plea to the charges involving three youths of the Cresaptown section.

It was brought out by statements entered in the case by Assistant State's Attorney James S. Getty that Wagner attended Carnegie Tech in Pittsburgh for two years. He was employed at a local plant as a stationary engineer.

Judge Harris in a scathing attack on Wagner declared:

"You are charged with the crime of sodomy and have entered pleas of guilty in three cases. Three young boys are involved; one 14 years of age and his two younger brothers. These offenses occurred with some degree of regularity over a 15-month period. These boys were lured to your home by gifts of various kinds and these offenses were deliberately and calmly planned.

"You are a single man, 45 years of age. In 1941, you were committed to the penitentiary at Moundsville, W. Va., to serve a sentence of one to ten years for sodomy. You served nearly six years and you were released in 1947. You did not profit from this punishment.

"You may not benefit from the punishment the court now feels constrained to pronounce in these cases. You may not have the physical and mental discipline to restrain yourself. You are inherently a moral leper; preying on young boys. You get these boys in the plastic, impressionistic period of their lives and leave a stigma with them that will last as long as life itself.

"The court is constantly trying to balance the delicate scales between making an example of some criminals in order to deter others and tempering judgment with mercy in other cases where severe punishments would only defeat the ends of real justice.

"However, in your case it is the considered judgment of this court that you should be confined where you will not be associated with young boys.

"By planned community recreational activities, the Boy Scouts, Police Boys Club, and kindred organizations, through the home, the church and the school, we are trying to build good citizens for tomorrow. As the twig is bent, the tree is inclined.

"This court would be woefully remiss in its duties if we permitted moral lepers of your ilk to destroy the moral fibre of our youth and go unpunished. By this sentence this court is also serving notice on others in this community who may be similarly inclined that this kind of conduct will not be tolerated."

Truck License Deadline Near

Midnight Thursday is the deadline for driving trucks and commercial vehicles without new license plates.

Tax Collector Ernest B. Treat, who has been selling plates to private owners of trucks grouped in Class E, reported over the weekend that he has sold about 1000 of these new license plates since the first of April.

He still is selling a few new automobile tags each day at his Court House office despite the fact that the deadline was March 31. Some of them were bought for new cars and others for cars whose owners have not been driving them this month.

Meanwhile, workers in Treat's office are beginning to prepare county and state real estate tax bills to be mailed to taxpayers near the end of May. Last week the county commissioners raised the county rate to $1.87 per $100 assessed valuation. The state rate is 3.04 cents per $100 valuation.

Treat expects to mail out about 21,000 bills just before Memorial Day. Traditionally about 90 per cent of the bills are paid in June when a discount of five per cent is allowed. In July the savings drops to four per cent and in August is three per cent.

Seek Liquor License

Dominick J. Cimmino, Frederick A. Cimmino and Alberta F. Cimmino have filed an application with the Allegany County Board of License Commissioners for a beer, wine and liquor license for Alberta's Restaurant, Inc., 43-45 North Mechanic Street.

Two Sentenced To Prison Terms

Two men charged with violations of parole were found guilty in Circuit Court yesterday by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris and given prison terms.

Herman R. Phillips, of Cash Valley Road, was ordered to serve two years in the House of Correction. He had been paroled last October for two years on a charge of contributing to the delinquency of his nine minor children with the understanding that he abstain from the use of intoxicants and support his family.

Curtis R. Portmess, of Baltimore, a former local man, was ordered to serve 18 months in the state penitentiary.

Portmess was brought back from Baltimore last week as a parole violator. He was convicted of embezzling $558.06 from the Charlton Brothers Transportation Company in April of 1950 and given a suspended sentence of 18 months.

Cresaptown Man Gets Five Years On Morals Charges

A Cresaptown man hailed into Circuit Court on three charges of sodomy was termed a "moral leper" by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris and was sentenced to five years in the state penitentiary on each of the three charges. The sentences are to run concurrently.

The accused, Philip Rowand Wagner, 45, entered a guilty plea to the charges involving three youths of the Cresaptown section.

It was brought out by statements entered in the case by Assistant State's Attorney James S. Getty that Wagner attended Carnegie Tech in Pittsburgh for two years. He was employed at a local plant as a stationary engineer.

Judge Harris in a scathing attack on Wagner declared:

"You are charged with the crime of sodomy and have entered pleas of guilty in three cases. Three young boys are involved; one 14 years of age and his two younger brothers. These offenses occurred with some degree of regularity over a 15-month period. These boys were lured to your home by gifts of various kinds and these offenses were deliberately and calmly planned.

"You are a single man, 45 years of age. In 1941, you were committed to the penitentiary at Moundsville, W. Va., to serve a sentence of one to ten years for sodomy. You served nearly six years and you were released in 1947. You did not profit from this punishment.

"You may not benefit from the punishment the court now feels constrained to pronounce in these cases. You may not have the physical and mental discipline to restrain yourself. You are inherently a moral leper; preying on young boys. You get these boys in the plastic, impressionistic period of their lives and leave a stigma with them that will last as long as life itself.

"The court is constantly trying to balance the delicate scales between making an example of some criminals in order to deter others and tempering judgment with mercy in other cases where severe punishments would only defeat the ends of real justice.

"However, in your case it is the considered judgment of this court that you should be confined where you will not be associated with young boys.

"By planned community recreational activities, the Boy Scouts, Police Boys Club, and kindred organizations, through the home, the church and the school, we are trying to build good citizens for tomorrow. As the twig is bent, the tree is inclined.

"This court would be woefully remiss in its duties if we permitted moral lepers of your ilk to destroy the moral fibre of our youth and go unpunished. By this sentence this court is also serving notice on others in this community who may be similarly inclined that this kind of conduct will not be tolerated."

Brodie Hands Locals First Loss Of Year

Error Robs Richards Of Shutout As Beall Wallops Bruce 14-1

Jack Brodie of Central High School, Lonaconing, handed Fort Hill its first setback of the season by the score of 3-0 and Tommy Richards pitched a no-hitter as Beall High whipped Bruce of Westernport, 14-1, in Bi-State Baseball Conference games played yesterday at Fort Hill Field and Frostburg.

Central's triumph over the Sentinels, snapping the latter's 3-game winning streak in the conference, enabled idle Hyndman High School to deadlock Fort Hill for first place. The tied leaders own 3-1 records.

Lonaconing, meanwhile, moved into the .500 circle with a 2-2 record, tying Beall and Bruce.

The Allegany at Hyndman game was postponed for the second straight day on account of wet grounds.

Pitchers Whiff 22

Brodie and Wayne Murray hooked up in a slab duel here. Each pitcher yielded three hits, Brodie whiffed 11 and Murray mowed down ten via the strikeout route.

Coach John Meyers' team won the game in the first inning when Andrews and Brodie walked and Ed Thompson singled to right scoring Andrews. In the third Andrews' pop fly fell for an infield hit and the runner pilfered second and third. Brodie drew a pass. When an attempt was made to pick Brodie off base, Andrews raced home. Turnbull walked in the 7th and was safe at second when McGregor misjudged the catcher's throw. Leamon missed Burke's perfect throw to catch Turnbull at third and the runner scored.

Error Produces Run

Tommy Richards of Beall missed a no-run, no-hit game as the result of a wild throw in the fourth inning that enabled Bruce to register its lone run.

Mike Nofsinger walked and was safe at second when Murray missed an attempted sacrifice. Marple then sacrificed Nofsinger to third. In returning the ball to Richards, Johnson threw over the pitcher's head and Nofsinger crossed the platter.

Richards struck out an even dozen Bruce batsmen. Coach Augie Eichhorn used five pitchers and Beall had only five hits. The Westernport hurlers, however, issued 12 free tickets and this helped run up the score. Paul Haywood was charged with the loss. There were no extra base hits in the game.

Two Games Set Today

Two Bi-State games are scheduled for today. LaSalle plays at Mt.Savage and Fort Hill opposes Bruce High in Westernport.

Hercules Edges Potomac Valley Cubs In Opener

Cunningham's Grocery And Stringtown Score

Hercules Powder Kegs, defending champions, edged Potomac Valley's Cubs, 7-6, Cunningham's Grocery trounced the Sports Shoppe, 18-7, and Stringtown took Ellerslie in to camp, 7-4, in opening games played yesterday in the County Softball League.

The Central Lunch-Zihlman game, played at the latter place, was halted by darkness in the 7th inning with the score knotted at 4-4.

Potomac Valley gave the Powder Kegs a scare in the final inning but Jackson relieved G. Lease with two runners aboard and retired the next three batsmen in order.

O. B. Case, Hercules plant manager, tossed out the first ball after which there was one minute of silence out of respect to Frank Toler, former Hercules pitching ace, who met death in an automobile accident.

D. Lease led the hitters with two doubles and a single while L. Lease of Potomac Valley and Woody Woodson of the Kegs blasted triples.

Jack Stotler and Rich Cunningham rapped three hits each in Cunningham's one-sided triumph. Rich and Bob Cunningham and Paul McGregor walloped homers. Barbe, Roy Manges and Spier shared six of the losers' 10 blows.

Glenn Kauffman, former Corriganville ace, was the winning pitcher in Stringtown's initial victory. The big blow of this battle was Ray Cooke's homer with two aboard which decided the issue in the fifth frame. Jerry Stair contributed a two-run double in the opening frame while Hixenbaugh and Hawkins connected for two hits each for Ellerslie. The scores:

Potomac State Defeats D. & E. By Score 7-2

'Rowdy' Totten, Holder And Jay Gorman Star

KEYSER, April 28 — Potomac State defeated Davis and Elkins College's baseball team today at Elkins by the score of 7-2 in a game featured by "Rowdy" Totten's relief pitching, Jay Gorman's hitting and Ralph Holder's backhanded catch of a low drive which he converted into a double play with the bases loaded in the 7th inning.

Dick Lyons started on the mound for Coach John Maiden's team but wildness caused him to be replaced by Totten in the 7th. "Rowdy" came on with the bases loaded and none out and issued a walk to force over a run. He struck out the next batter and then Holder made a sensational catch in centerfield and pegged the ball to Niedbala to double a runner off second base.

Jay Gorman, Potomac's leadoff man, fanned the first time at bat but on his next four trips he hit safely.

Both of D. & E.'s runs were the result of free tickets issued by Lyons and Totten with the bases loaded.

The victory was the second straight for the Catamounts. Box:

Error Robs Richards Of Shutout As Beall Wallops Bruce 14-1

Jack Brodie of Central High School, Lonaconing, handed Fort Hill its first setback of the season by the score of 3-0 and Tommy Richards pitched a no-hitter as Beall High whipped Bruce of Westernport, 14-1, in Bi-State Baseball Conference games played yesterday at Fort Hill Field and Frostburg.

Central's triumph over the Sentinels, snapping the latter's 3-game winning streak in the conference, enabled idle Hyndman High School to deadlock Fort Hill for first place. The tied leaders own 3-1 records.

Lonaconing, meanwhile, moved into the .500 circle with a 2-2 record, tying Beall and Bruce.

The Allegany at Hyndman game was postponed for the second straight day on account of wet grounds.

Pitchers Whiff 22

Brodie and Wayne Murray hooked up in a slab duel here. Each pitcher yielded three hits, Brodie whiffed 11 and Murray mowed down ten via the strikeout route.

Coach John Meyers' team won the game in the first inning when Andrews and Brodie walked and Ed Thompson singled to right scoring Andrews. In the third Andrews' pop fly fell for an infield hit and the runner pilfered second and third. Brodie drew a pass. When an attempt was made to pick Brodie off base, Andrews raced home. Turnbull walked in the 7th and was safe at second when McGregor misjudged the catcher's throw. Leamon missed Burke's perfect throw to catch Turnbull at third and the runner scored.

Error Produces Run

Tommy Richards of Beall missed a no-run, no-hit game as the result of a wild throw in the fourth inning that enabled Bruce to register its lone run.

Mike Nofsinger walked and was safe at second when Murray missed an attempted sacrifice. Marple then sacrificed Nofsinger to third. In returning the ball to Richards, Johnson threw over the pitcher's head and Nofsinger crossed the platter.

Richards struck out an even dozen Bruce batsmen. Coach Augie Eichhorn used five pitchers and Beall had only five hits. The Westernport hurlers, however, issued 12 free tickets and this helped run up the score. Paul Haywood was charged with the loss. There were no extra base hits in the game.

Two Games Set Today

Two Bi-State games are scheduled for today. LaSalle plays at Mt.Savage and Fort Hill opposes Bruce High in Westernport.

Hercules Edges Potomac Valley Cubs In Opener

Cunningham's Grocery And Stringtown Score

Hercules Powder Kegs, defending champions, edged Potomac Valley's Cubs, 7-6, Cunningham's Grocery trounced the Sports Shoppe, 18-7, and Stringtown took Ellerslie in to camp, 7-4, in opening games played yesterday in the County Softball League.

The Central Lunch-Zihlman game, played at the latter place, was halted by darkness in the 7th inning with the score knotted at 4-4.

Potomac Valley gave the Powder Kegs a scare in the final inning but Jackson relieved G. Lease with two runners aboard and retired the next three batsmen in order.

O. B. Case, Hercules plant manager, tossed out the first ball after which there was one minute of silence out of respect to Frank Toler, former Hercules pitching ace, who met death in an automobile accident.

D. Lease led the hitters with two doubles and a single while L. Lease of Potomac Valley and Woody Woodson of the Kegs blasted triples.

Jack Stotler and Rich Cunningham rapped three hits each in Cunningham's one-sided triumph. Rich and Bob Cunningham and Paul McGregor walloped homers. Barbe, Roy Manges and Spier shared six of the losers' 10 blows.

Glenn Kauffman, former Corriganville ace, was the winning pitcher in Stringtown's initial victory. The big blow of this battle was Ray Cooke's homer with two aboard which decided the issue in the fifth frame. Jerry Stair contributed a two-run double in the opening frame while Hixenbaugh and Hawkins connected for two hits each for Ellerslie. The scores:

Potomac State Defeats D. & E. By Score 7-2

'Rowdy' Totten, Holder And Jay Gorman Star

KEYSER, April 28 — Potomac State defeated Davis and Elkins College's baseball team today at Elkins by the score of 7-2 in a game featured by "Rowdy" Totten's relief pitching, Jay Gorman's hitting and Ralph Holder's backhanded catch of a low drive which he converted into a double play with the bases loaded in the 7th inning.

Dick Lyons started on the mound for Coach John Maiden's team but wildness caused him to be replaced by Totten in the 7th. "Rowdy" came on with the bases loaded and none out and issued a walk to force over a run. He struck out the next batter and then Holder made a sensational catch in centerfield and pegged the ball to Niedbala to double a runner off second base.

Jay Gorman, Potomac's leadoff man, fanned the first time at bat but on his next four trips he hit safely.

Both of D. & E.'s runs were the result of free tickets issued by Lyons and Totten with the bases loaded.

The victory was the second straight for the Catamounts. Box:

Dark Star Qualifies For Derby

Beats Money Broker In Churchill Trial

LOUISVILLE, April 28 (AP)—Dark Star from the Cain Hoy Stable of Harry F. Guggenheim qualified handsomely today for the Kentucky Derby Saturday by pulling away in the stretch to win the $15,300 Derby Trial.

He crossed the finish line four lengths ahead of second place Money Broker, with Spy Defense another three-quarter lengths behind for third. Thirteen Derby hopefuls started.

Jockey Henry Moreno was aboard Dark Star, a brown son of Royal Gem 2nd-Isolde. It was only the Guggenheim colt's fourth start of the year.

The Churchill Downs track was termed "fast" for the trial, after being "good" for the first six races following last night's rains. Dark Star's time of 1:36 for the mile was excellent, as he sailed under the wire four ahead of the G. and G. Stable's Money Broker, winner of the $100,000 Florida Derby.

Spy Defense, from the Dixiana Farm of Charles T. Fisher, got third money by a scant nose over the highly-regarded Royal Bay Gem, property of Eugene Constantin Jr., of Dallas.

A crowd of some 25,000 had established the Dixiana entry of Spy Defense and Berseem, and Royal Bay Gem, the co-favorites at $2.70 to $1. Dark Star paid $11, $6.40, $4.40; Money Broker, $5.20 and $3, and the Dixiana entry, $2.80 to show.

All of the three-year-olds in the trial are eligible for the $100,000 Derby over the mile and one quarter route Saturday.

Parsons, Oakland Thinclads To Meet

PARSONS, April 28—Coach C. Robert Sullivan has announced that Parsons High School will be host at a dual track meet at the school on Friday afternoon, May 1, when they will compete against Southern High School of Oakland, Md.

Boys who are participating in track are Frank Roberts, Charles Shields, Edward and Ronnie McDonald, Delbert Poling, Glen Poling, Verl Davis, George Donalds, Walter Jones, Howard Moore, Delton Mullenaux, Bill Rosenau and William Trippett.

Delton Mullenaux won first place in the discus throw at the Inter-Mountain track meet held in Elkins on Saturday. Ronnie McDonald took second place in the half mile run and third place in the mile run.

Randall Raines Of Moorefield Blanks Romney

Jackets Annex Sixth Straight In PVC, 5-0

ROMNEY, April 28—Moorefield High School's undefeated Yellow Jackets made it six in a row in the Potomac Valley Conference when Randall Raines blanked Romney High School's Pioneers today by the score of 5-0.

The win gave Coach Johnny Paugh's team a sweep of the two-game series. Romney's conference record is now 3-3.

Raines held Romney to three hits, one being a triple by Green, and struck out seven. Haines of Romney yielded only four hits but fielding misplays put him in hot water in the early frames when the Jackets scored four of their five tallies.

Romney plays Petersburg High School here and Moorefield invades Franklin for P.V.C. games Thursday. The box score:

Tahitian King Out Of Derby

NEW YORK, April 28 (AP)—Tahitian King, who finished second to Native Dancer in last week's Wood Memorial, won't go in the Kentucky Derby Saturday, it was learned today.

Tahitian King originally was scheduled to be shipped to Louisville, but George McCabe, owner of the firm that ships horses between tracks, said the order to send Tahitian King to Louisville had been cancelled.

Grafton Whiffs 13

COLLEGE PARK, Md., April 28 (AP)—Lefty Warren Grafton, a freshman from North East, Md., struck out 13 and gave up only six hits today in pitching Maryland to a 6-2 victory over Johns Hopkins.

It was the young southpaw's first verdict in collegiate competition, Maryland's ninth win in 13 games this season, and Hopkins' fifth defeat in eight starts.

DETROIT, April 28 (AP) — Chuck Davey hits the comeback trail for the first time in his fistic life tomorrow night and is a 4 to 1 favorite to tee off on Sammy Giuliani, an ex-caddie, in their 10-round bout at the Olympia.

It'll be Davey's first appearance since losing to Kid Gavilan in his unsuccessful bid for the welterweight title last February—and there's more than passing interest to see if the school teacher learned any lessons from the champion.

Nick Londes, matchmaker for the International Boxing Club, says he expects a crowd of 8,000 to 10,000 for the nationally televised fight starting at 9 p.m. (EST).

Petersburg Beats Circleville, 3-1

PETERSBURG, April 28 — Jimmy Kessel tossed a one-hitter and fanned 12 batsmen today as Coach Jesse Riggleman's Petersburg High School Vikings downed Circleville's Indians by the score of 3-1.

Kessel upped his strikeout total to 42 for the season and the lone hit credited to Circleville was made by Second Baseman Thompson, who singled home Hinkle in the second stanza.

Walks paved the way for two of Petersburg's runs. In the first frame Jimmy Martin drew a pass, went to second as Leatherman walked and scored on John Boor's single to center. Leatherman singled, pilfered second and came home when Thompson bobbled Boor's grounder in the third. Veach drew a free ticket in the 6th, advanced to second on Martin's infield out and scored on Whitmer's base wallop.

Teter yielded the Vikings four hits and three runs. He was supplanted by Wimer in the 5th frame. Box score:

Chicago Edges Senators, 5-4

Harry Dorish Saves Game In Relief Role

CHICAGO, April 28 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox today summoned Harry Dorish to the rescue for the sixth time this season and the veteran righthander checked a ninth inning rally to give the Sox a 5-4 victory over the Washington Senators.

He saved the game for Rookie Mike Fornieles, who was credited with his first triumph after yielding three runs and seven hits in 4 2-3 innings of relief.

Another Sox yearling, Connie Johnson, started, but the lanky Negro righthander, who won 18 for Colorado Springs in 1952, served four hits and four walks for a shaky three frames.

Meanwhile, however, the Sox had piled up a 5-0 edge in the first two innings with a four hit blast off Walt Masterson that was combined with an error and four walks. Two runs in the first round were unearned.

Sonny Dixon, 28-year-old fledgling who won 19 for Chattanooga last season, replaced Masterson with two out in the second. He fanned Rocky Krsnich to retire the side and yielded only two hits in 5 1-3 innings before being yanked for a pinch batter in the eighth.

Washington left 15 men stranded.

Boston Red Sox Shut Out Tigers

DETROIT, April 28 (AP)—Fighting his own wildness, Southpaw Maury McDermott of the Boston Red Sox blanked Detroit, 2-0, today on a three-hitter that sent the Tigers down to their fifth straight defeat.

The six-foot-two lefty gave up only three scattered singles but walked eight to keep himself in constant trouble.

Boston scored in the fifth and seventh innings to sew up McDermott's second victory and hand young Billy Hoeft, Tiger lefty, his first loss.

Detroit, which now has lost ten games of 11 games, now has gone scoreless in 16 straight innings. Even Shortstop Harvey Kuenn went hitless in three straight at bats and his batting average dipped to .317, a fall of 102 points in six games.

Sugar Robinson Sued For Punching Janitor

NEW YORK, April 28 (AP) — A punch allegedly delivered out of the boxing ring is the basis of a $3,000 damage suit against Ray (Sugar) Robinson, former welterweight and middleweight boxing champion, it was disclosed today.

City Court Justice Rocco Parella set the case for hearing tomorrow.

Joseph Moore, 46, Negro, brought the action. He said he formerly was superintendent of two apartment buildings owned by Robinson. He charged that Robinson hired him in 1949 and punched him in the stomach, causing injuries that incapacitated him.

Dark Star Qualifies For Derby

Beats Money Broker In Churchill Trial

LOUISVILLE, April 28 (AP)—Dark Star from the Cain Hoy Stable of Harry F. Guggenheim qualified handsomely today for the Kentucky Derby Saturday by pulling away in the stretch to win the $15,300 Derby Trial.

He crossed the finish line four lengths ahead of second place Money Broker, with Spy Defense another three-quarter lengths behind for third. Thirteen Derby hopefuls started.

Jockey Henry Moreno was aboard Dark Star, a brown son of Royal Gem 2nd-Isolde. It was only the Guggenheim colt's fourth start of the year.

The Churchill Downs track was termed "fast" for the trial, after being "good" for the first six races following last night's rains. Dark Star's time of 1:36 for the mile was excellent, as he sailed under the wire four ahead of the G. and G. Stable's Money Broker, winner of the $100,000 Florida Derby.

Spy Defense, from the Dixiana Farm of Charles T. Fisher, got third money by a scant nose over the highly-regarded Royal Bay Gem, property of Eugene Constantin Jr., of Dallas.

A crowd of some 25,000 had established the Dixiana entry of Spy Defense and Berseem, and Royal Bay Gem, the co-favorites at $2.70 to $1. Dark Star paid $11, $6.40, $4.40; Money Broker, $5.20 and $3, and the Dixiana entry, $2.80 to show.

All of the three-year-olds in the trial are eligible for the $100,000 Derby over the mile and one quarter route Saturday.

Randall Raines Of Moorefield Blanks Romney

Jackets Annex Sixth Straight In PVC, 5-0

ROMNEY, April 28—Moorefield High School's undefeated Yellow Jackets made it six in a row in the Potomac Valley Conference when Randall Raines blanked Romney High School's Pioneers today by the score of 5-0.

The win gave Coach Johnny Paugh's team a sweep of the two-game series. Romney's conference record is now 3-3.

Raines held Romney to three hits, one being a triple by Green, and struck out seven. Haines of Romney yielded only four hits but fielding misplays put him in hot water in the early frames when the Jackets scored four of their five tallies.

Romney plays Petersburg High School here and Moorefield invades Franklin for P.V.C. games Thursday. The box score:

Chicago Edges Senators, 5-4

Harry Dorish Saves Game In Relief Role

CHICAGO, April 28 (AP)—The Chicago White Sox today summoned Harry Dorish to the rescue for the sixth time this season and the veteran righthander checked a ninth inning rally to give the Sox a 5-4 victory over the Washington Senators.

He saved the game for Rookie Mike Fornieles, who was credited with his first triumph after yielding three runs and seven hits in 4 2-3 innings of relief.

Another Sox yearling, Connie Johnson, started, but the lanky Negro righthander, who won 18 for Colorado Springs in 1952, served four hits and four walks for a shaky three frames.

Meanwhile, however, the Sox had piled up a 5-0 edge in the first two innings with a four hit blast off Walt Masterson that was combined with an error and four walks. Two runs in the first round were unearned.

Sonny Dixon, 28-year-old fledgling who won 19 for Chattanooga last season, replaced Masterson with two out in the second. He fanned Rocky Krsnich to retire the side and yielded only two hits in 5 1-3 innings before being yanked for a pinch batter in the eighth.

Boston Red Sox Shut Out Tigers

DETROIT, April 28 (AP)—Fighting his own wildness, Southpaw Maury McDermott of the Boston Red Sox blanked Detroit, 2-0, today on a three-hitter that sent the Tigers down to their fifth straight defeat.

The six-foot-two lefty gave up only three scattered singles but walked eight to keep himself in constant trouble.

Boston scored in the fifth and seventh innings to sew up McDermott's second victory and hand young Billy Hoeft, Tiger lefty, his first loss.

Detroit, which now has lost ten games of 11 games, now has gone scoreless in 16 straight innings. Even Shortstop Harvey Kuenn went hitless in three straight at bats and his batting average dipped to .317, a fall of 102 points in six games.

Sugar Robinson Sued For Punching Janitor

NEW YORK, April 28 (AP) — A punch allegedly delivered out of the boxing ring is the basis of a $3,000 damage suit against Ray (Sugar) Robinson, former welterweight and middleweight boxing champion, it was disclosed today.

City Court Justice Rocco Parella set the case for hearing tomorrow.

Joseph Moore, 46, Negro, brought the action. He said he formerly was superintendent of two apartment buildings owned by Robinson. He charged that Robinson hired him in 1949 and punched him in the stomach, causing injuries that incapacitated him.

Surgeons Give Woman Glands Of Guinea Pig

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Reporter

NEW ORLEANS, April 28 (AP)—A woman here is living with glands of a guinea pig transplanted into her body, a surgeon disclosed today.

She was given new thyroid and parathyroid glands in probably the first such transplant of an animal thyroid to a human.

It is another bold step toward the goal of some day replacing the lost, tired or disabled glands of humans with new animal or human glands.

The woman, not identified, was given the animal glands three months ago, after her own thyroid and parathyroids were removed because of cancer. The thyroid gland produces thyroid hormone. The parathyroids, two little glands near the thyroid, control calcium levels in the body.

The guinea pig glands were transplanted into the woman's stomach muscles, in hopes they would remain alive there and pour thyroid hormone into her bloodstream.

Whether the animal glands are actually working isn't yet known, said Dr. Edward T. Krementz of Tulane University Medical School. The woman, who lives near New Orleans, has not yet returned to the hospital for studies to learn this.

Archer Fish Shoot Out Electric Lights

SAN FRANCISCO, April 28 (AP)—A bunch of sureshot archers are giving the maintenance man at the Steinhart Aquarium of the California Academy of Sciences a bad time.

They are archer fish, a warm water tropical species. They are shooting out the lights over their aquarium tank with disconcerting regularity.

The 300-watt bulbs were installed over the archer fish tanks both for light and warmth. The strong lights also keep the fish awake and they don't like it.

To put out the bulbs, the archers get a mouth full of water, move up to the surface, take aim and squirt—and the light goes out.

KING REVIEWS HIS TROOPS—King Hussein of Jordan reviews a guard of honor mounted by Arab Legion troops on the grounds of the royal palace at Amman during a reception. Immigration Policy Check Asked By Ike

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP) — President Eisenhower has asked Congress to re-examine the country's immigration policy "with a view to achieving legislation which would be fair and just to all."

He told the Senate he has received a great many complaints that the McCarran-Walter Immigration Act, passed after a furious Senate fight last year, contains "many serious and inequitable restrictions.

The President's position was made public yesterday by Sen. Watkins (R-Utah), chairman of a judiciary committee on immigration.

Watkins released an April 6 letter from Eisenhower which indicated the President favors a fundamental revision of the McCarran-Walter Act. The letter said in part:

"While I recognize that the act contains some provisions which represent a liberalizing influence in the field of immigration law and that a fundamental revision of a statute cannot be approached without searching analysis, I suggest that a study of the operation of many of the administrative provisions of the Immigration and Nationality Act of 1952 should be immediately undertaken, with an invitation to all concerned to testify regarding the provisions of which they complain."

Wisconsin Plan May Ease Domestic Law Violators' Burden On State

BALTIMORE, April 28 (AP) — Records in the office of the superintendent of state prisons show 17 per cent of all House of Correction inmates are there because of domestic relations cases, the type that usually places a double financial burden on the state.

And Superintendent Harold E. Donnell believes a way to ease the burden on Maryland taxpayers might be found in Wisconsin, where a "working-out" plan is in effect.

Donnell said recently a member of his department who is going to Wisconsin on vacation has been asked to get some "first hand information on the Wisconsin plan."

Under present Maryland law, fathers who fail to support their children are placed in confinement where they can earn no money and the state then is often called upon to support the families as well as the delinquent fathers.

In Wisconsin, the domestic law violator must live at the jail, but goes to work at his usual occupation as he normally would.

He has to pay his own keep at the jail, and at least a percentage of the remainder of his earnings is turned over to the family.

Donnell said he'd like to see how that system "works out in practice."

If the plan is as good as its backers claim, putting it into effect in Maryland would not only ease the expenses of the Department of Welfare and the jails, but would remove a large number of prisoners from penal institutions for the greater part of the time and provide more room for other types of offenders.

Donnell points out, however, that the plan, if adopted in Maryland, would probably have to be applied to jails on a local level.

The House of Correction is 17 miles from Baltimore, and the difficulty of providing transportation for prisoners who would work in different sections of the city looms as a large one.

The Wisconsin plan, described by Donnell as "worth considering," was recommended in a report of the Commission on Reorganization of State Government.

Donnell said the percentage of domestic relations cases in the House of Correction has declined from a startling 28 per cent in 1950 to 17 per cent last year, but cautioned that the percentage decrease was caused largely by an overall increase in the prison's general population.

FIRE DAMAGED U. S. MAIL—Workmen begin task of gathering up U. S. mail thrown from mail car after a Union Pacific crack streamliner collided with a gasoline truck which burst into flames, wrapping the mail car in a shroud of fire. No one was hurt seriously although the fire scorched a box car loaded with TNT caps. The train, the San Francisco Overland Limited, was unable to stop after making a turn and finding the truck stalled on the tracks near Denver.

Boy Shoots Himself With Homemade Gun

BALTIMORE, April 28 (AP)—A 14-year-old boy who said he made a "zip gun" following instructions in an adventure magazine, accidentally shot himself in the hand while loading the homemade weapon.

Police said the boy, Steve Perrault, was treated at Lutheran Hospital.

The boy told police he and a friend, Thomas Jones, 15, were firing at a target in Jones' basement. He was attempting to load the weapon when the hammer slipped, sending a 22-caliber bullet into his left hand between the third and little fingers, police said.

Perrault, a freshman at Forest Park High School, said he and Jones found a car aerial in an ash can and used it to make the zip gun following directions in a recent issue of a magazine.

GOP Women Urged To Use Patience In Judging Ike's Administration

FREDERICK, Md., April 28 (AP)—Mrs. Carroll D. Kearns, president of the National Federation of Republican Women's Clubs, urged 350 Maryland delegates yesterday to use "patience and realism" in judging the Eisenhower administration.

Mrs. Kearns, wife of the Pennsylvania congressman, was the principal speaker at the annual meeting of the Maryland Federation.

She urged her listeners to rally voters to support the GOP standard in 1954 and 1956, expressing concern at the "uncomfortably close margin" the Republicans hold in Congress.

Pointing out that illness or other absences could cost the GOP its three-vote majority in the House, Mrs. Kearns called for a grass-roots campaign at the precinct level to convince people they should elect a sizeable majority of Republicans.

Calling for patience and realism in judging the present administration, Mrs. Kearns said "You can't expect 100 days to wipe out all the problems piled up in 20 years."

"Republicans inherited New Deal machinery and most of the personnel that is held over and largely unreliable."

Other speakers included Bertha Adkins of Salisbury, chairman of the Women's Division of the Republican National Committee, and Mrs. Emmert R. Bowlus of Frederick, president of the state federation.

Seek Homes For IFYE Students

Allegany County farm families are being asked by the state International Farm Youth Exchange committee to consider having one of these young people from abroad live with them for a while.

The committee explains that Maryland probably will have four IFYE's this summer. Each exchange will be here about two months and should divide that time between two or three families.

Since the purpose of the program is to develop better world understanding by having youth of different countries share and learn the American way of life, the committee asks they be placed with 4-H farm families where they can learn the real American rural life at first hand, sharing the work, pleasures and fellowship of a family member.

Besides learning the rural youth educational activities here, the exchangee is expected to visit statewide events, such as Club Week, County 4-H Camps, and the State 4-H Fair. There is to be a balance between the amount of work they do and their opportunity to participate in community activities and observe the American way of life.

The IFYE project does not anticipate that the exchangees are here to earn money, but they should receive an allowance for spending money, because they cannot obtain dollars in their countries due to limitations on currency exchange.

To Hold Card Pary

HEAR EVERYBODY'S BIDS

LISTENING to all the bids, including all of those by your opponents, constitutes more than merely acting courteously toward everybody concerned. It also is a winning habit. Along the way, you may accumulate information about your opponents' hands which enables you to read important facts about your partner's holding. When they show a large number of cards in three suits, you may deduce that your partner has a fair number in the fourth, thereby guiding you to the making of a sound call of your own.

What bidding. If North had started as most stronger players would, with 1-Diamond, the suit just below his singleton when holding such a borderline hand, there would be no occasion for the comments to be made on this deal.

Plenty more of that auction is subject to negative criticism. East would normally be expected to double the 1-Spade for a takeout, whereupon West would be expected to answer with 3-Hearts. When he did prefer 1-No Trump, West had enough for 3-Hearts, and some would have bid four. And, with the calls going as they did up to East's 3-Clubs, most good players would have called 4-Hearts instanter in the West.

As the auction developed, South was not the least tempted to enter the activity all around him. That is, not until he heard the opponents bid the heart game. Then, with the whole rubber at stake, he decided to make his one move. The calls of the other suits by his opponents, and East's showing of several spades, with his No Trump bid, made South sure they had very few diamonds. Hence his partner had a number of them. He therefore sacrificed at 5-Diamonds. East, resenting the insult to his own calling more than he esteemed his own side's chance to make 5-Hearts, doubled.

South went down only two tricks in his sacrifice, losing two in spades and one each in the red suits. The opponents could have made their heart game, indeed 5-Hearts, losing only a trick in each black suit. So the sacrifice was an economy.

CHALLENGE TO THE INDUSTRY
-the new GMC 400-27 that outpowers and outclasses its field

GMC's new 18,000 GVW hauler not only dwarfs trucks of 16,000 and 17,000 GVW, but overshadows—and underprices—those rated at 19,000.

In fact, the GMC 400-27 is designed to outhaul any truck up to 19,500 GVW.

Its new engine of progressive design is stripped of excess weight, yet built stronger to absorb the stress of really high compression. It gives you brisker response, more power and mileage from regular gas.

It includes, as standard equipment, many features that are optional at extra cost on other trucks.

As a tractor—or as a truck—it can increase your hauling ability, give you impressively better equipment—and save you both purchase and operating money to boot.

130 GROSS HORSEPOWER—on moneysaving single carburetion. Valve-in-head engine, 270 cubic inch displacement, 7.5 to 1 compression ratio.

2-SPEED ELECTRIC SHIFT REAR AXLE—15,000 pounds capacity, is coupled with a 4-speed Synchro-Mesh transmission, putting 8 forward speeds at the driver's command. (Single-speed axle available at a saving; 5-speed transmission optional at extra cost.)

30,000 GCW—137" or 149" wheelbase in tractors; 161", 179" or 197" wheelbase in trucks (9- and 12-foot platform or stake bodies optional).

ALSO STANDARD EQUIPMENT: 4,500 pound capacity front axle—Hydrovac-actuated brakes—Moraine M-400 main and connecting rod bearings—Tocco-hardened crankshaft.

Seek Homes For IFYE Students

Allegany County farm families are being asked by the state International Farm Youth Exchange committee to consider having one of these young people from abroad live with them for a while.

The committee explains that Maryland probably will have four IFYE's this summer. Each exchange will be here about two months and should divide that time between two or three families.

Since the purpose of the program is to develop better world understanding by having youth of different countries share and learn the American way of life, the committee asks they be placed with 4-H farm families where they can learn the real American rural life at first hand, sharing the work, pleasures and fellowship of a family member.

Besides learning the rural youth educational activities here, the exchangee is expected to visit statewide events, such as Club Week, County 4-H Camps, and the State 4-H Fair. There is to be a balance between the amount of work they do and their opportunity to participate in community activities and observe the American way of life.

The IFYE project does not anticipate that the exchangees are here to earn money, but they should receive an allowance for spending money, because they cannot obtain dollars in their countries due to limitations on currency exchange.

To Hold Card Pary

HEAR EVERYBODY'S BIDS

LISTENING to all the bids, including all of those by your opponents, constitutes more than merely acting courteously toward everybody concerned. It also is a winning habit. Along the way, you may accumulate information about your opponents' hands which enables you to read important facts about your partner's holding. When they show a large number of cards in three suits, you may deduce that your partner has a fair number in the fourth, thereby guiding you to the making of a sound call of your own.

What bidding. If North had started as most stronger players would, with 1-Diamond, the suit just below his singleton when holding such a borderline hand, there would be no occasion for the comments to be made on this deal.

Plenty more of that auction is subject to negative criticism. East would normally be expected to double the 1-Spade for a takeout, whereupon West would be expected to answer with 3-Hearts. When he did prefer 1-No Trump, West had enough for 3-Hearts, and some would have bid four. And, with the calls going as they did up to East's 3-Clubs, most good players would have called 4-Hearts instanter in the West.

As the auction developed, South was not the least tempted to enter the activity all around him. That is, not until he heard the opponents bid the heart game. Then, with the whole rubber at stake, he decided to make his one move. The calls of the other suits by his opponents, and East's showing of several spades, with his No Trump bid, made South sure they had very few diamonds. Hence his partner had a number of them. He therefore sacrificed at 5-Diamonds. East, resenting the insult to his own calling more than he esteemed his own side's chance to make 5-Hearts, doubled.

South went down only two tricks in his sacrifice, losing two in spades and one each in the red suits. The opponents could have made their heart game, indeed 5-Hearts, losing only a trick in each black suit. So the sacrifice was an economy.

KEYSER—The Cancer campaign, which is underway in Keyser and nearby area, is being operated under the direction of Dr. Robert Coffman, as finance chairman this year. For the past several years the directed program had been handled by Emory Tyler, who died several days ago.

The campaign will be conducted without the usual door-to-door or house-to-house canvas. Dr. Coffman has sent letters through the mail to the citizens of Keyser area, and through the appeal made therein it is expected the drive will be carried through successfully.

Forty percent of the funds secured here will be used locally in operation of local clinical work in cooperation with the Cancer Detection Center; approximately 15 percent will be used by the West Virginia Cancer Society in its work and approximately 45 percent will go to the working program of the American Cancer Society for work in research and education of the public.

Contributions may be mailed by local citizens to the local committee. Information concerning this is included in the letters that Dr. Coffman has mailed to citizens.

ROTC Corps Is Inspected On PSS Campus

KEYSER—The first inspection of the Reserve Officers Training Corps, Potomac State Schools, was conducted yesterday by U. S. Army officers. The two ROTC companies made a good showing.

Scanning the entire outfit on parade on the campus were Col. Samuel Roth, Major Charles Crane, regular Army, and Lt. Howard Scherer, commander of the local ROTC. M/Sgt. Philip D. Beall, of the local staff, who has given much of his time to preparing the recruits at the college this year, was kept active on the grounds.

As the entire ROTC unit paraded around the parade ground, headed by the colors and the three sponsors, it presented a greatly improved appearance from a couple of months ago.

The sponsors for the outfit, in their new white suits and blue capes and service caps, made an excellent appearance. They are Miss Lois Smith, Franklin, battalion sponsor, and Miss Eleanor Kile, Upper Tract, and Miss Carolyn Schuwecker, Parkersburg, company sponsors.

Officers were heard to remark that another year will show a wonderful improvement in appearance of the cadets, who have had only a few months in which to train. Next year, instead of two companies, there will be four companies as the unit was organized too late this school year for benefit of the sophomore students. In the 1953-54 school term, sophomore students will be in the ROTC as well as the recruits of the coming Freshman class.

Col. Roth and Major Crane, the inspecting officers, are active on assignments to the ROTC, Col. Roth at West Virginia University, and Major Crane at the Massanutten Military Academy, Woodstock, Va.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, April 28 (INS)—If you are one of the many who've been wondering what happened to Paul Muni—surprise, surprise, he's right here in Hollywood.

After an absence of two years in which he toured Europe, the two-time Oscar winner ("Pasteur" and "Zola") has returned to the scene of his triumphs, but not for a regular movie.

He's making his TV debut for screen gems (Ford Theatre of TV) in "The People vs. Johnston," playing a lawyer.

Those who have seen Paul around the Columbia lot say he looks well, he's lost weight and it's becoming. Mrs. Muni is with him, of course. Theirs has been a long time happy marriage.

May 5, in Wilmington, will tell the story whether Charles Green, a minority stockholder, gets control of 20th Century-Fox, or Spyros Skouras remains at the head.

Darryl Zanuck, who has won the Irving Thalberg Award three times, and who has made some of the greatest pictures in the business has said he is with Skouras.

Currently it looks very good for Skouras. As far as could be learned, Green had only one and one-tenth of the voting proxies. It's feared if Green should get control, 20th would cease to function as an important studio, although, of course, this is only speculation.

Just back from Korea where she spent several weeks, Piper Laurie is in such an exhausted condition her doctor has forbidden her to make any pictures until she feels better. That means she will not report at RKO for "Son of Sinbad" on a loan-out from Universal-International.

Neither will Piper be well enough to go to South Africa for the 50th anniversary of the opening of the first motion picture theatre, for another month. She also has anemia, which is only temporary and can be cured if she rests—but all work is forbidden now.

Novelist Robert Andrews, now in India to film "The Wayfarer" (Life of Buddah) writes from Bombay: "I have to stand guard over the postal clerk to make sure this letter is even stamped. If you don't see the letter stamped they peel off the postage, turn it in for cash, and tear up your letter!

"There's no TV here, but despite this Lucille Ball is the favorite American star. When one of her American movies plays here, no matter how old, it's like a carnival."

India has a movie czar with even more power than our Eric Johnston because Bavnani (that's his name) represents the government and without government approval no film, native or foreign, can be filmed.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Dennis Morgan walked out of St. John's Hospital over the weekend with the aid of only a cane, following orthopedic surgery.

Christine Jorgenson will receive 50 per cent of the receipts from her appearance at the Orpheum in Los Angeles.

At the Racquet Club, Mona Freeman and Vic Damone met when they presented the men's doubles trophy at the tennis tournament. They were both alone and, well, Mona's pretty.

Evelyn Keyes and Mike Todd at the Racquet Club, as was Joseph Schenck, who escorted Mrs. William Perlberg and Jane Wyman, Bill stayed home with Freddie Karger, who is still resting.

The Ben Gimbels of Philadelphia are here visiting. They were guests of honor at a party Joan Bennett gave. I should add—and Walter Wanger.

Attractive Lorie Raine sang Harry Ruby's "I Count My Blessings" at Larry Finley's M O P.

Mrs. Burt Lancaster flew to Honolulu to join Burt, who is making "From Here to Liberty."

Buddy Ebsen gets in Sunday, brought here by his agent, Jimmy McHugh Jr. for a part in "Red Garters," the Rosemary Clooney musical at Paramount.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

"COME BACK LITTLE SHEBA"

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, April 28 (INS)—If you are one of the many who've been wondering what happened to Paul Muni—surprise, surprise, he's right here in Hollywood.

After an absence of two years in which he toured Europe, the two-time Oscar winner ("Pasteur" and "Zola") has returned to the scene of his triumphs, but not for a regular movie.

He's making his TV debut for screen gems (Ford Theatre of TV) in "The People vs. Johnston," playing a lawyer.

Those who have seen Paul around the Columbia lot say he looks well, he's lost weight and it's becoming. Mrs. Muni is with him, of course. Theirs has been a long time happy marriage.

May 5, in Wilmington, will tell the story whether Charles Green, a minority stockholder, gets control of 20th Century-Fox, or Spyros Skouras remains at the head.

Darryl Zanuck, who has won the Irving Thalberg Award three times, and who has made some of the greatest pictures in the business has said he is with Skouras.

Currently it looks very good for Skouras. As far as could be learned, Green had only one and one-tenth of the voting proxies. It's feared if Green should get control, 20th would cease to function as an important studio, although, of course, this is only speculation.

Just back from Korea where she spent several weeks, Piper Laurie is in such an exhausted condition her doctor has forbidden her to make any pictures until she feels better. That means she will not report at RKO for "Son of Sinbad" on a loan-out from Universal-International.

Neither will Piper be well enough to go to South Africa for the 50th anniversary of the opening of the first motion picture theatre, for another month. She also has anemia, which is only temporary and can be cured if she rests—but all work is forbidden now.

Novelist Robert Andrews, now in India to film "The Wayfarer" (Life of Buddah) writes from Bombay:

"I have to stand guard over the postal clerk to make sure this letter is even stamped. If you don't see the letter stamped they peel off the postage, turn it in for cash, and tear up your letter!

"There's no TV here, but despite this Lucille Ball is the favorite American star. When one of her American movies plays here, no matter how old, it's like a carnival."

India has a movie czar with even more power than our Eric Johnston because Bavnani (that's his name) represents the government and without government approval no film, native or foreign, can be filmed.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Dennis Morgan walked out of St. John's Hospital over the weekend with the aid of only a cane, following orthopedic surgery.

Christine Jorgenson will receive 50 per cent of the receipts from her appearance at the Orpheum in Los Angeles.

At the Racquet Club, Mona Freeman and Vic Damone met when they presented the men's doubles trophy at the tennis tournament. They were both alone and, well, Mona's pretty.

Evelyn Keyes and Mike Todd at the Racquet Club, as was Joseph Schenck, who escorted Mrs. William Perlberg and Jane Wyman. Bill stayed home with Freddie Karger, who is still resting.

The Ben Gimbels of Philadelphia are here visiting. They were guests of honor at a party Joan Bennett gave. I should add—and Walter Wanger.

Attractive Lorie Raine sang Harry Ruby's "I Count My Blessings" at Larry Finley's M O P.

Mrs. Burt Lancaster flew to Honolulu to join Burt, who is making "From Here to Liberty."

Buddy Ebsen gets in Sunday, brought here by his agent, Jimmy McHugh Jr. for a part in "Red Garters," the Rosemary Clooney musical at Paramount.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

"COME BACK LITTLE SHEBA"

The Old Second Guesser

by John Wheeler

W. R. Hearst Hired The Man

During the course of my career as a syndicate huckster, originating and selling features and sometimes stealing one from a competitor, I have encountered most of the prominent publishers, including Lord Northcliffe and William Randolph Hearst. I first met the latter by knocking at his door and waiting patiently in a large library with a group of editors and others who wanted to see the gentleman. If you stood well with George, the major domo of the duplex apartment, you got in. Otherwise, you stayed until they turned off the heat and lights and then left.

John Wheeler

As the years went on, our relations became more cordial as evidenced by the fact he offered me a job and invited me to his ranch at San Simeon two or three times. We had hired a Washington columnist named Paul Mallon, who was hotter than a firecracker, away from the McClure Syndicate which we now own.

Mr. Mallon was making a tour of the country, and I thought it would be a good idea if he got an interview with Mr. Hearst while he was in California. I wrote the publisher a letter suggesting it, and he agreed. Our columnist turned out a good story, and they must have gotten along very well, for as soon as his contract ran out with us, W. R. hired Mallon.

The other night I was reading a book entitled "William Randolph Hearst," edited by Edmond D. Coblentz, a veteran Hearst man, and published by Simon and Schuster. After Arthur Brisbane died, the boss, himself, started writing a column in his place, at first unsigned called "In The News." Coblentz adds Mr. Hearst would probably have used the Brisbane title "Today," except he had copyrighted it, and his estate refused to release it.

Perhaps by way of illumination, I might insert this anecdote. The great editor, Mr. Brisbane, had a shabby office in the old New York Journal building. A young staffer on the paper asked Tad, the cartoonist, one day,

"How do I get in to see A.B.?"

"Oh, you mean double-dome?" answered Tad. "Just throw a dime over the transom and you'll make it all right."

There was always a question in the trade whether Mr. Hearst wrote his own stuff or had one or two ghosts. Mallon had the effrontery to ask him, which is what makes a good reporter, and much to his surprise and ours he got an answer promptly. Simon and Schuster say I can quote up to 300 words from the book. Here is part of his reply:

"My dear Mr. Mallon,

"You ask me if I write all the articles I sign.

"That, sir, is not a very complimentary question.

"Would it be discourteous for me to ask in return if you write all the articles you sign?

"Of course, you do, and, of course, you do not think that you are so much cleverer than other people that you can write and others cannot.

"I am a professional newspaperman, Mr. Mallon, and I have been working at the newspaper business — not playing with it but working at it — day and night for over 50 years.

"Would I not be a 'dumb cluck', as the saying goes, if I did not know the rudiments of my trade by this time?

"Of course, I write my signed articles, and many more that I do not sign. If I do not write them, who does? I wish I knew. I am being sued on one of them now, and, if I did not write it, I wish the fellow who did would come up like a man and tell me about it and take the rap.

"Furthermore, Mr. Mallon, I do not think it is such a trick to write. Anybody who can think can write. It does not take much practice to put thoughts into words. All you have got to do is to have some thoughts which are worth putting into words.

"Some people write better than others, of course, and some people write worse.

"I am probably one of those who write worse, and still I can express my own thoughts better than anyone else can express them for me . . ."

Well, I guess those are about 300 words and wraps it up. Now you know about Mr. Hearst as a writer.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

The Old Second Guesser

by John Wheeler

W. R. Hearst Hired

The Man

During the course of my career as a syndicate huckster, originating and selling features and sometimes stealing one from a competitor, I have encountered most of the prominent publishers, including Lord Northcliffe and William Randolph Hearst. I first met the latter by knocking at his door and waiting patiently in a large library with a group of editors and others who wanted to see the gentleman. If you stood well with George, the major domo of the duplex apartment, you got in. Otherwise, you stayed until they turned off the heat and lights and then left.

John Wheeler

As the years went on, our relations became more cordial as evidenced by the fact he offered me a job and invited me to his ranch at San Simeon two or three times. We had hired a Washington columnist named Paul Mallon, who was hotter than a firecracker, away from the McClure Syndicate which we now own.

Mr. Mallon was making a tour of the country, and I thought it would be a good idea if he got an interview with Mr. Hearst while he was in California. I wrote the publisher a letter suggesting it, and he agreed. Our columnist turned out a good story, and they must have gotten along very well, for as soon as his contract ran out with us, W. R. hired Mallon.

The other night I was reading a book entitled "William Randolph Hearst," edited by Edmond D. Coblentz, a veteran Hearst man, and published by Simon and Schuster. After Arthur Brisbane died, the boss, himself, started writing a column in his place, at first unsigned called "In The News." Coblentz adds Mr. Hearst would probably have used the Brisbane title "Today," except he had copyrighted it, and his estate refused to release it.

Perhaps by way of illumination, I might insert this anecdote. The great editor, Mr. Brisbane, had a shabby office in the old New York Journal building. A young staffer on the paper asked Tad, the cartoonist, one day,

"How do I get in to see A.B.?"

"Oh, you mean double-dome?" answered Tad. "Just throw a dime over the transom and you'll make it all right."

There was always a question in the trade whether Mr. Hearst wrote his own stuff or had one or two ghosts. Mallon had the effrontery to ask him, which is what makes a good reporter, and much to his surprise and ours he got an answer promptly. Simon and Schuster say I can quote up to 300 words from the book. Here is part of his reply:

"My dear Mr. Mallon,

"You ask me if I write all the articles I sign.

"That, sir, is not a very complimentary question.

"Would it be discourteous for me to ask in return if you write all the articles you sign?

"Of course, you do, and, of course, you do not think that you are so much cleverer than other people that you can write and others cannot.

"I am a professional newspaperman, Mr. Mallon, and I have been working at the newspaper business — not playing with it but working at it — day and night for over 50 years.

"Would I not be a 'dumb cluck', as the saying goes, if I did not know the rudiments of my trade by this time?

"Of course, I write my signed articles, and many more that I do not sign. If I do not write them, who does? I wish I knew. I am being sued on one of them now, and, if I did not write it, I wish the fellow who did would come up like a man and tell me about it and take the rap.

"Furthermore, Mr. Mallon, I do not think it is such a trick to write. Anybody who can think can write. It does not take much practice to put thoughts into words. All you have got to do is to have some thoughts which are worth putting into words.

"Some people write better than others, of course, and some people write worse.

"I am probably one of those who write worse, and still I can express my own thoughts better than anyone else can express them for me . . ."

Well, I guess those are about 300 words and wraps it up. Now you know about Mr. Hearst as a writer.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

F SJOCH OR CKS PBNHFG LVGVNA WVMFBRV OS OR MKLLKC—JFDNOSS.

In Memoriam

KIRBY—A tribute of love to our dear husband and father, George Kirby who died 1 year ago today, April 29, 1952.
We do not forget you, nor do we intend.
We think of you often, and will til the end;
Gone and forgitten by some you may be,
But dear to our memory you ever will be.

In Memoriam

KIRBY—A tribute of love to our dear husband and father, George Kirby who died 1 year ago today, April 29, 1952.
We do not forget you, nor do we intend.
We think of you often, and will til the end;
Gone and forgitten by some you may be,
But dear to our memory you ever will be.

Jail Breakers Will Be Booked On New Charges

Escaped Trusty Back Behind Bars

Jail break charges will be filed against four inmates of the County Jail who attained brief freedom over the weekend after overpowering Deputy Sheriff Edgar M. Lewis Saturday night, State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher said last night.

Meanwhile, the young trusty who walked away from the County Jail Friday afternoon also was behind bars yesterday afternoon after being free a little over four days.

Back In Jail

Howard F. Witt, the 19-year old trusty from Mt. Savage, was returned to the County Jail from Mt. Savage about 3:30 p. m. yesterday by Deputies William E. Orr and George Harris. Earlier a relative had called the office of Sheriff Edward R. Muir to report that the boy was ready to return to jail.

Witt told deputies after his return to jail that he hid for several days on Wills Mountain before making his way to his home. He said that he observed the sheriff's car drive through the Narrows several times from his perch at Lover's Leap.

The four who escaped Saturday night were brought back at intervals Monday. First to return were Carl Earl Albright, 20, and William George Albright, 22, of near Salisbury, Pa. They surrendered to State Police early Monday morning.

Monday night Elmer James Carder, 35, Loartown, returned to the County Jail as a result of the persuasion of his brother. Then, about 9:30 p. m. Monday, Floyd Monroe Fisher, 38-year old armed robbery suspect from Philadelphia was nabbed by Harold W. Davis, a Western Maryland Railway policeman, as he walked across the railway bridge at Baltimore Street.

Sentenced Saturday

Carder and the Albrights had been given 18-month sentences Saturday morning by Associate Judge George Henderson in Circuit Court on their pleas of guilty to rifling automobiles in the Tri-Towns area. Carder was ordered to serve his time in the Maryland House of Correction and the Albrights were sentenced to the State Reformatory for Males.

Fisher has been awaiting action on a charge of robbing an employe of the Frostburg Auto Company April 10. He and Kenneth S. Strayer, 31, also of Philadelphia, were nabbed by Uniontown, Pa., police a couple of hours after the robbery was committed in Frostburg.

Strayer yesterday filed a petition in Allegany County Circuit Court for an immediate trial on the armed robbery charge. He has waived his right to indictment by the Grand Jury and has asked to be tried by the court on a criminal information.

State's Attorney Fletcher filed the information yesterday. The information charges that Strayer robbed George E. Gordon, an employe of Marshall C. Ferree and McDonald Ferree, trading as the Frostburg Auto Company, of $91.50 at gunpoint.

Firm Will Plan Tank Installation

An official of the Alto Salvage Company, Altoona, Pa., will be here this week to inspect the site of the 75,000-gallon water tank which is being installed in North Cumberland.

Myer Rosefsky, owner of the firm, will make final plans for installation of the used tank during his visit, according to William J. Edwards, commissioner of water and electric light.

City workers are now excavating for the footers for the tank which will be erected on Chedworth Avenue.

When the footers are poured, the Altoona firm plans to begin dismantling the water tank and moving it to the site, where it will be reassembled.

The firm bid $18,000 on a package deal which includes the cost of the tank, fittings, electric motors and controls, for dismantling it and then erecting it on the site prepared by the city.

Installation of the tank, officials say, will provide a high-pressure water system in North Cumberland.

Cool, Rainy Season Holds Back Crops

COLLEGE PARK, Md., April 28 (AP)—Cool and rainy weather has been holding back the development of crops, Maryland crop reporters observed today.

The phrase appeared several times in the weekly summary issued by the Farm extension service at the University of Maryland, the Weather Bureau and the Federal Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

The summary, covering the week ended last Friday, noted some frost damage to various crops but indicated it was not serious.

Washington County peach orchards reported 10 to 20 per cent loss, even up to 50 per cent in some instances. But the crop summary said the real damage cannot be determined until later and reports of damage should be treated for the time being as part of the thinning process.

The findings on various crops:

Field Crops

Spring oats all seeded except west of Hancock. Some earlier fields are up but cool, rainy weather has held back normal development. Wheat and barley fields on Eastern Shore begin to show minor nitrogen deficiency. Cool weather did not favor sprouting of potatoes. Some rotting of seed reported. Hay and pastures did not grow well. Frost nipped clover and alfalfa in central Maryland.

Truck Crops

Tomato planting underway on lower Eastern Shore, several earlier fields held back by cold winds. Peas made fair growth. Frosts damaged some cucumber and snap bean fields in the Wicomico County area, but elsewhere plantings were not up yet. Some asparagus was cut but volume was small. Some strawberry blooms on the lower Eastern Shore were nipped but no serious crop loss was expected.

Fruit Crops

Peach orchards on the Eastern Shore and in Central Maryland also suffered some frost damage. Washington County will have some frost damage in Red Delicious apples but full bloom was not expected until after the weekend.

Red Cross Asks For New County Blood Donors

Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross, yesterday issued an appeal for blood donors for the monthly visit of the Bloodmobile Unit here next week.

The Bloodmobile will be in Cumberland Monday and Tuesday from noon to 6 p. m. at the Eagles Home, North Mechanic Street.

Mrs. Lee W. Witherup, executive secretary, said an effort will be made to recruit persons who have not donated blood before. She said three-fourths of the donors on the Red Cross donors' list are repeaters and these people are carrying almost the entire county blood program at present.

New Donors Needed

Mrs. Witherup appealed to county residents for support in carrying on the blood program, which assures free blood to countians whenever they need it. More people are needed to sign up as donors, she said, in order to keep the program going.

Persons wishing to donate blood may make appointments by calling the local Red Cross office at 3556 or by contacting Mrs. Charles Helmrich, recruitment chairman, at 3614. Mrs. Witherup pointed out that appointments will be scheduled at a time convenient for the donor.

The Red Cross seeks 300 pints of blood during the two-day visit, and 400 donors must be scheduled in order to allow for rejects and those not able to keep appointments. "Walk-in" donors will be accepted at the Eagles Home, Mrs. Witherup added.

Red Cross officials announced that plans for the distribution of gamma globulin, a blood derivative, as a poliomyelitis preventive, are underway. Under the plan developed by the Office of Defense Mobilization's Health Resources Advisory Committee, state health departments will be the sole distributors of gamma globulin for polio innoculations to local health departments and private physicians.

To Distribute Preventive

The arrangement places the responsibility for the distribution of each state's supply of gamma globulin in the hands of the state health officer. No other agencies are authorized to distribute gamma globulin within the state. State health departments already are the sole distributing agents for gamma globulin used for innoculations for measles and infectious hepatitis.

The distribution pattern is aimed at providing state health departments with as much gamma globulin as possible by the opening of the polio season. The Office of Defense Mobilization will determine the basic allocation to a state based on the average number of polio cases reported in that state over a five-year period.

Additional allocations will be made when cases exceed this average. Gamma globulin will also be provided within the limits of available supplies for community-wide innoculations in areas in which polio is epidemic.

Who Said April Showers?

If you think this April's cool, chilly and drizzly weather has been something for the books, compare it with the picture above, which was snapped 25 years ago today atop Little Savage Mountain. That was on April 29, 1928, when an unprecedented spring snowfall dumped so much snow on the mountaintop that this man was dwarfed by the piled-up drifts along U. S. Route 40.

Board Will Hear Remonstrances Tuesday, May 19

158 Beer Licenses Issued During Day

Before granting beer permits for 158 applicants yesterday, the Allegany County Board of License Commissioners set hearings for Tuesday, May 19, for two other applicants against whom remonstrances have been filed.

The board first will hear the complaint against the Bowman's Addition Volunteer Fire Company, whose trustees are Dewey Wilfong, Fred T. Spencer and Carl H. Paul. This hearing will start at 10 a. m. Some 10 Bowman's Addition citizens charge that disturbances occur at the Fire Hall until the early morning hours, that the place caters to teenagers and that whisky is sold there illegally.

Hazard Charged

At 11 a. m. May 19, the hearing on the remonstrance against George Speir, operator of the National Inn at Carlos Junction in National will get underway. Some 43 signers of this remonstrance oppose any alcoholic beverage license for the premises. They say it would constitute a traffic hazard as the place is situated on a curve and there is no parking area except on the highway.

Before approving the 158 other applications, Walter C. Capper, board chairman, complimented license holders generally for the manner in which they have conducted their places of business. He acknowledged that there have been violations of the law but on the whole conditions have greatly improved in the past few years. He asked the license holders to continue to operate within the law in the future.

Some 146 of the 158 beer licenses approved yesterday were renewals for existing licenses. Twenty-one were for off-premises consumption and the other 125 for on-and-off premises use.

In addition, three new off-premises beer permits were authorized. Charles Mulligan and Robert Mulligan were granted one at an entirely new location on Main Street in Mt. Savage. Two others were issued to new applicants at old locations. Gertrude Meders obtained a beer license for 231 Independence Street where Mary H. Kaefer had held the license. Cora A. Teets was issued a similar permit for premises at 600 Montreal Avenue where John P. Moffatt has held the license previously.

Nine New 'On & Off' Permits

Some nine new license holders also were issued beer licenses for on-and-off premises consumption. James L. Cook obtained one on Valley Road where Freeman G. Cook was the former holder. Paul J. Shanski was issued one at 171 North Centre Street where Gayle Y. Stevens was the license holder. George E. Coddington Jr. was awarded one at premises in Eckhart where John R. Booth held the license.

Arch Farrens was issued a beer permit on Railroad Street, Lonaconing, where the former holder was Gladys M. Warnick. John Blank succeeded Arthur Blank as the licensee for premises in Zihlman. William J. Morgan obtained a license at a completely new location on Mt. Savage Road at Sunnyside. Thelma E. Niland replaced Irvin G. Darr as the licensee at 168 North Mechanic Street. Warren R. Bearinger was awarded the permit for 1000 Virginia Avenue where the previous licensee was Sadie Yaeger. Joseph J. Spinetta was issued a license for 60 North Mechanic Street where Eldean Wolford was the license holder.

These 158 beer licenses bring to 314 the number of alcoholic beverage permits authorized for the new year starting Friday. Monday the board approved 121 beer, wine and liquor licenses and 35 for beer and wine only. There now are 331 licenses in force.

Westernport Heads To Meet On Parking Lot Construction

Westernport Mayor Okey E. Michael and City Councilmen will meet this evening at 8 o'clock to discuss plans for building a city parking lot at Washington and Main streets.

Mayor Michael reported last night that space for the lot has been purchased from the Morrison heirs at a cost of $25,000. City officials will discuss plans for tearing down two buildings located on the plot and bids for the work.

Notices to vacate have already been sent to the Acme Furniture Company which is using the 150-by-50-foot building on Main Street for a warehouse, and to Dr. Donald P. Whitworth, dentist; Welsh Music Store and Trial Magistrate Carl W. Shaffer, who are occupying a 40-by-60-foot building on Washington Street. They have 30 days in which to move.

Plans call for setting up 39 parking meters on the lot which will also have a city weighing scale. Revenue from the parking meters and city scales will pay for the cost of the lot in about 10 years, it was estimated.

Filter Project To Be Completed About June 1

Clearwell Repairs Are Progressing

William J. Edwards, commissioner of water and electric light, said yesterday that excellent progress is being made on the construction of six additional filters at Lake Gordon and that the $237,210 project may be turned over to the city by June 1.

The commissioner made the report yesterday afternoon after a survey of the work with Robert T. Regester, consulting engineer, and C. R. Nuzum, city engineer.

Three of the six filters, each of which has a capacity of 1,000,000 gallons a day, were filled with water for the first time yesterday to undergo pressure tests. Valves, motors and electrical controls for the system are also being made.

The project, being built by the George F. Hazelwood Construction Company, got under way during the spring of 1952 but was delayed for months by strikes in foundries which furnished heavy pipe and fittings.

The new units will filter an additional 6,000,000 gallons of water a day and will operate under 25 per cent overloads for short periods of time if needed.

Plans Modernization

Regester, in the meanwhile, is preparing plans for the modernization of the existing 12 filters at Lake Gordon. When this project is completed, the plant will be a completely modern unit designed to furnish 18 million gallons of filtered water to the Cumberland area.

The city is also spending about $35,000 for the modernization of the chemical house of the filtration plant.

Final plans were also made yesterday by Regester for the rehabilitation of the clearwell, which was damaged early in March when part of the bottom fell out of the 40-year-old structure.

Part of the clearwell is being sealed off and a new waterproofed floor placed in the area which is to remain.

Will Assure Supply

Regester told city officials yesterday the clearwell repair work has been a "blessing in disguise," since alterations now being made will enable the city to feed water from the clearwell to both of the main transmission lines leading to the city.

This means that if trouble should ever develop in the clearwell in the future, both of the main lines can be supplied with water.

The damaged section of the clearwell has been sealed off and walls reinforced in order to make use of the remaining portion of the 375,000-gallon reservoir used to store filtered water.

Repairs to the clearwell structure are being made by the Hazelwood firm.

Conference Set On Bus Terminal

City officials will confer Monday with bus firms which use the George Street bus terminal on plans to reduce traffic congestion on the street.

Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long and City Attorney Thomas B. Finan will discuss the problem with the firms Monday at 3 p. m. following the council meeting.

Invited to attend are the Osgood Mt. Savage and Emery bus lines, which use the North George Street terminal, and the Blue Ridge Bus Company, which operates the union terminal on North Mechanic Street.

To be discussed are the possibilities of the use of the Blue Ridge terminal by all bus lines which operate in Cumberland.

The subject has been under discussion for some time as a means of relieving congestion on North George Street.

Jail Breakers Will Be Booked On New Charges

Escaped Trusty Back Behind Bars

Jail break charges will be filed against four inmates of the County Jail who attained brief freedom over the weekend after overpowering Deputy Sheriff Edgar M. Lewis Saturday night, State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher said last night.

Meanwhile, the young trusty who walked away from the County Jail Friday afternoon also was behind bars yesterday afternoon after being free a little over four days.

Back In Jail

Howard F. Witt, the 19-year old trusty from Mt. Savage, was returned to the County Jail from Mt. Savage about 3:30 p. m. yesterday by Deputies William E. Orr and George Harris. Earlier a relative had called the office of Sheriff Edward R. Muir to report that the boy was ready to return to jail.

Witt told deputies after his return to jail that he hid for several days on Wills Mountain before making his way to his home. He said that he observed the sheriff's car drive through the Narrows several times from his perch at Lover's Leap.

The four who escaped Saturday night were brought back at intervals Monday. First to return were Carl Earl Albright, 20, and William George Albright, 22, of near Salisbury, Pa. They surrendered to State Police early Monday morning.

Monday night Elmer James Carder, 35, Loartown, returned to the County Jail as a result of the persuasion of his brother. Then, about 9:30 p. m. Monday, Floyd Monroe Fisher, 38-year old armed robbery suspect from Philadelphia was nabbed by Harold W. Davis, a Western Maryland Railway policeman, as he walked across the railway bridge at Baltimore Street.

Sentenced Saturday

Carder and the Albrights had been given 18-month sentences Saturday morning by Associate Judge George Henderson in Circuit Court on their pleas of guilty to rifling automobiles in the Tri-Towns area. Carder was ordered to serve his time in the Maryland House of Correction and the Albrights were sentenced to the State Reformatory for Males.

Fisher has been awaiting action on a charge of robbing an employe of the Frostburg Auto Company April 10. He and Kenneth S. Strayer, 31, also of Philadelphia, were nabbed by Uniontown, Pa., police a couple of hours after the robbery was committed in Frostburg.

Strayer yesterday filed a petition in Allegany County Circuit Court for an immediate trial on the armed robbery charge. He has waived his right to indictment by the Grand Jury and has asked to be tried by the court on a criminal information.

State's Attorney Fletcher filed the information yesterday. The information charges that Strayer robbed George E. Gordon, an employe of Marshall C. Ferree and McDonald Ferree, trading as the Frostburg Auto Company, of $91.50 at gunpoint.

Firm Will Plan Tank Installation

An official of the Alto Salvage Company, Altoona, Pa., will be here this week to inspect the site of the 75,000-gallon water tank which is being installed in North Cumberland.

Myer Rosefsky, owner of the firm, will make final plans for installation of the used tank during his visit, according to William J. Edwards, commissioner of water and electric light.

City workers are now excavating for the footers for the tank which will be erected on Chedworth Avenue.

When the footers are poured, the Altoona firm plans to begin dismantling the water tank and moving it to the site, where it will be reassembled.

The firm bid $18,000 on a package deal which includes the cost of the tank, fittings, electric motors and controls, for dismantling it and then erecting it on the site prepared by the city.

Installation of the tank, officials say, will provide a high-pressure water system in North Cumberland.

Before granting beer permits for 158 applicants yesterday, the Allegany County Board of License Commissioners set hearings for Tuesday, May 19, for two other applicants against whom remonstrances have been filed.

The board first will hear the complaint against the Bowman's Addition Volunteer Fire Company, whose trustees are Dewey Wilfong, Fred T. Spencer and Carl H. Paul. This hearing will start at 10 a. m. Some 10 Bowman's Addition citizens charge that disturbances occur at the Fire Hall until the early morning hours, that the place caters to teenagers and that whisky is sold there illegally.

Hazard Charged

At 11 a. m. May 19, the hearing on the remonstrance against George Speir, operator of the National Inn at Carlos Junction in National will get underway. Some 43 signers of this remonstrance oppose any alcoholic beverage license for the premises. They say it would constitute a traffic hazard as the place is situated on a curve and there is no parking area except on the highway.

Before approving the 158 other applications, Walter C. Capper, board chairman, complimented license holders generally for the manner in which they have conducted their places of business. He acknowledged that there have been violations of the law but on the whole conditions have greatly improved in the past few years. He asked the license holders to continue to operate within the law in the future.

Some 146 of the 158 beer licenses approved yesterday were renewals for existing licenses. Twenty-one were for off-premises consumption and the other 125 for on-and-off premises use.

In addition, three new off-premises beer permits were authorized. Charles Mulligan and Robert Mulligan were granted one at an entirely new location on Main Street in Mt. Savage. Two others were issued to new applicants at old locations. Gertrude Meders obtained a beer license for 231 Independence Street where Mary H. Kaefer had held the license. Cora A. Teets was issued a similar permit for premises at 600 Montreal Avenue where John P. Moffatt has held the license previously.

Nine New 'On & Off' Permits

Some nine new license holders also were issued beer licenses for on-and-off premises consumption. James L. Cook obtained one on Valley Road where Freeman G. Cook was the former holder. Paul J. Shanski was issued one at 171 North Centre Street where Gayle Y. Stevens was the license holder. George E. Coddington Jr. was awarded one at premises in Eckhart where John R. Booth held the license.

Arch Farrens was issued a beer permit on Railroad Street, Lonaconing, where the former holder was Gladys M. Warnick. John Blank succeeded Arthur Blank as the licensee for premises in Zihlman. William J. Morgan obtained a license at a completely new location on Mt. Savage Road at Sunnyside. Thelma E. Niland replaced Irvin G. Darr as the licensee at 168 North Mechanic Street. Warren R. Bearinger was awarded the permit for 1000 Virginia Avenue where the previous licensee was Sadie Yaeger. Joseph J. Spinetta was issued a license for 60 North Mechanic Street where Eldean Wolford was the license holder.

These 158 beer licenses bring to 314 the number of alcoholic beverage permits authorized for the new year starting Friday. Monday the board approved 121 beer, wine and liquor licenses and 35 for beer and wine only. There now are 331 licenses in force.

Mayor Michael reported last night that space for the lot has been purchased from the Morrison heirs at a cost of $25,000. City officials will discuss plans for tearing down two buildings located on the plot and bids for the work.

Notices to vacate have already been sent to the Acme Furniture Company which is using the 150-by-50-foot building on Main Street for a warehouse, and to Dr. Donald P. Whitworth, dentist; Welsh Music Store and Trial Magistrate Carl W. Shaffer, who are occupying a 40-by-60-foot building on Washington Street. They have 30 days in which to move.

Plans call for setting up 39 parking meters on the lot which will also have a city weighing scale. Revenue from the parking meters and city scales will pay for the cost of the lot in about 10 years, it was estimated.

Filter Project To Be Completed About June 1

Clearwell Repairs Are Progressing

William J. Edwards, commissioner of water and electric light, said yesterday that excellent progress is being made on the construction of six additional filters at Lake Gordon and that the $237,210 project may be turned over to the city by June 1.

The commissioner made the report yesterday afternoon after a survey of the work with Robert T. Regester, consulting engineer, and C. R. Nuzum, city engineer.

Three of the six filters, each of which has a capacity of 1,000,000 gallons a day, were filled with water for the first time yesterday to undergo pressure tests. Valves, motors and electrical controls for the system are also being made.

The project, being built by the George F. Hazelwood Construction Company, got under way during the spring of 1952 but was delayed for months by strikes in foundries which furnished heavy pipe and fittings.

The new units will filter an additional 6,000,000 gallons of water a day and will operate under 25 per cent overloads for short periods of time if needed.

Plans Modernization

Regester, in the meanwhile, is preparing plans for the modernization of the existing 12 filters at Lake Gordon. When this project is completed, the plant will be a completely modern unit designed to furnish 18 million gallons of filtered water to the Cumberland area.

The city is also spending about $35,000 for the modernization of the chemical house of the filtration plant.

Final plans were also made yesterday by Regester for the rehabilitation of the clearwell, which was damaged early in March when part of the bottom fell out of the 40-year-old structure.

Part of the clearwell is being sealed off and a new waterproofed floor placed in the area which is to remain.

Will Assure Supply

Regester told city officials yesterday the clearwell repair work has been a "blessing in disguise," since alterations now being made will enable the city to feed water from the clearwell to both of the main transmission lines leading to the city.

This means that if trouble should ever develop in the clearwell in the future, both of the main lines can be supplied with water.

The damaged section of the clearwell has been sealed off and walls reinforced in order to make use of the remaining portion of the 375,000-gallon reservoir used to store filtered water.

Repairs to the clearwell structure are being made by the Hazelwood firm.

Conference Set On Bus Terminal

City officials will confer Monday with bus firms which use the George Street bus terminal on plans to reduce traffic congestion on the street.

Invited to attend are the Osgood Mt. Savage and Emery bus lines, which use the North George Street terminal, and the Blue Ridge Bus Company, which operates the union terminal on North Mechanic Street.

To be discussed are the possibilities of the use of the Blue Ridge terminal by all bus lines which operate in Cumberland.

The subject has been under discussion for some time as a means of relieving congestion on North George Street.
